TARIFF CRISIS IMMINENT IN BRITISH CABINET

Mr. Isaac Foot Breaks Liberal Silence on Ottawa Agreements

CHEQUERS' WEDDING

JOAN MACDONALD
MARRIED

OMITS "OBEY" FROM SERVICE

London, Sept. 20.

Miss Joan MacDonald, the first Prime Minister's daughter to be married from Chequers, to-day became the bride of Dr. Alastair MacKinnon, at the neighbouring town of Wendover.

The wedding was witnessed by hundreds of distinguished men of letters and politics who filled the little Congregational Chapel to overflowing.

The chapel was beautified by choice flowers from the gardens of Chequers.

The bride, who was markedly self-composed, omitted the word "obey" from the marriage service.

— IS A GLANCE.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter Joan, who is a doctor like her husband, were both cheered to the echo on their arrival at Wendover.

People paid as much as five pounds for standing room in the cottage gardens opposite the chapel.

The destination of the happy couple on their honeymoon has been kept a close secret.

Both the bride and bridegroom studied as doctors at the same University.

The Prime Minister gave his daughter away in the presence of a very large congregation, including several Cabinet Ministers and other famous men and women. Large crowds cheered the bride as a piper headed her car to the church. The reception ceremony was held at Chequers.—Reuter and British Wireless.

HANGMAN FOUND DEAD

THROAT CUT AT ROCHDALE

London, Sept. 20.

John Ellis, who had been the official hangman for the last twenty-three years, was found dead at his home in Rochdale to-day with his throat cut.

Ellis was fifty-eight years of age and had been in ill-health for some little time.

He officiated at two hundred and three executions, including those of Dr. Crippen and Sir Roger Casement.—Reuter.

RESIGNATIONS PROBABLE

BREAK-UP OF NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

LONDON, SEPT. 20.

A POLITICAL CRISIS IN BRITAIN IS BELIEVED TO BE IMMINENT. THERE IS NO FURTHER DOUBT REGARDING THE HOSTILITY OF THE LIBERAL MEMBERS OF THE CABINET TO THE OTTAWA AGREEMENTS, THOUGH NO OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS LIKELY TO BE MADE UNTIL AFTER THE CABINET MEETING NEXT WEEK.

It is more than likely that the meeting will be followed by the resignations of some of the Liberal Ministers, led by Sir Herbert Samuel, the Home Secretary, and speculation is rife regarding the next step of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald should this possibility eventuate.

The silence of the Liberal leaders of the National Government on their attitude to the Ottawa Agreements, particularly to the food tax proposals, was broken to-day by Mr. Isaac Foot, the Minister of Mines and Liberal M.P. for the Bodmin Division of Cornwall. He made it quite clear that a decision has already been reached regarding the steps to be taken, but refrained from anticipating Sir Herbert Samuel's statement.

Mr. Isaac Foot contends that in accepting the Ottawa Agreements in their present form, the delegates departed from their character as representatives of a National Government, and points to the election manifesto issued by the Prime Minister in which he said "The Government is to be comprehensively national and not sectional in the obligations which it is to keep before it."

CONSUMERS' LEAGUE IN OPPOSITION

Speaking in North Cardigan to-day, before a large audience, Mr. Isaac Foot said that the Ottawa proposals represent a partisan, not a national policy.

"Not only is that true," he said, "but they are definitely contrary to the permanent interests of the nation."

FREE TRADERS.

"We Liberals," he declared, "are therefore bound to oppose the proposed steps for giving effect to the Ottawa agreements. We entered the National Government as Liberals and as Free Traders. We remain Liberals and Free Traders."

Mr. Foot went on to attack the method by which the agreements were reached and the manner in which certain guarantees were given.

"If the Ottawa proposals become law," he declared, "they will deprive Parliament of Budgetary independence."

"Sir Herbert Samuel, at the right time, the decision of the Parliamentary Liberal Party; which has held numerous important meetings on this issue.

"We desire the Government's policy to be truly National."

Hostility to the Ottawa Agreements is also revealing itself in other quarters. The provisions in the drafts were condemned to-day in resolutions passed by the Executive Committee of the Consumers' League, calling upon consumers throughout the country to oppose ratification of the agreements.—Reuter.

THIEF SMARTLY CAUGHT

WITH $200 HAUL OF JEWELS

An audacious theft occurred at about nine o'clock last night at the Kwong Sang firm, dealers in curios and jewellery, in Lee House Street.

A young Chinese entered the shop and after some little time spent in examining the contents of a showcase, extracted a case containing some jade pieces and calmly walked out of the shop.

Recovering from his surprise, a fold gave chase and caught the thief before he had turned the corner into Chater Road.

SUNK BY SILVER DOLLARS

River Tragedy Near Swatow

LAUNCH MISHAP

(Our Own Correspondent).

Swatow, Sept. 19.
A river mishap attended with some loss of life has just occurred in this district.

A party of Chauchowfu business men had gone up-river to collect debts due to them at the Mid-Autumn Festival, and after the trip they hired a small launch to take them from Tsungkow to Chauchowfu. It appears that the launch, with about seventy men and a heavy cargo of silver dollars, was loaded beyond its capacity, and before it had gone more than a few miles it suddenly sank.

One account says the launch overbalanced and could not right itself; another that through being so heavily laden it struck a submerged rock.

ALARMING SUDDENNESS.

Whatever the precise cause, the craft sank with alarming suddenness, leaving its occupants a struggling, frenzied mass in the swift-running river.

By good fortune, another boat was following hard on the launch, and within a few minutes was rescuing the unfortunate. Most were saved, but ten or more were missing, presumed drowned. The others lost between them thousands of dollars, but they were fortunate in escaping with their lives.

CHEMICAL WORKS FIRE

EMPLOYEE SENT TO HOSPITAL

At 4.15 p.m. yesterday, a fire broke out in the Paramount Chemical Works, at No. 581, Canton Road.

It is stated that a dispensing chemist was experimenting with some disinfecting fluid, and a resin and creosote compound was being heated over a spirit stove when it overflowed and came into contact with the light of the stove, and started a fire.

Employees on the premises succeeded in beating out the flames, but one of them, Foon Kam, was hurt about the face and legs and had to be taken to hospital.

The 'Daily Mail', in "hopes of stimulating the authorities to prompt and decisive steps" to save Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Charles Corkran, announces that it is willing to offer £10,000 towards the cost of bringing them to safety.

The sum, the journal declares, may either be paid as ransom or used to meet the cost of a rescue party, or applied in any other way which may be thought fit to secure their release.—Reuter.

METHODIST ACT OF UNION

DUKE OF YORK AT CEREMONY

THREE CHURCHES
UNITE

London, Sept. 20.

The legal Act of Union of the three Methodist churches in Britain, took place this afternoon in the Albert Hall in the presence of a large congregation, which included the Duke of York, who represented the King and who was accompanied by the Duchess.

The Bishop of London and other Bishops, leaders of Non-Conformity at home and abroad, the Lord Mayor of London, Mr. Walter Runciman (President of the Board of Trade) several members of Parliament, Sir Josiah Stamp and other prominent Methodists were present.

Conferees of the Wesleyan Methodist, the Primitive Methodist and the United Methodist churches having given their separate and joint assent to the deed, Dr. Scott Lidgett, President of the Uniting Conference, declared the Union accomplished.

"There are over one million adherents in Britain of the Methodist Church, which comprises about twelve million members. The Duke of York read a message from the King congratulating the Uniting Churches. 'I welcome the Union as marking one step towards the unity of Christian people—a cause always dear to me.'"

BRIDGE COLLAPSES

FLOOD DISASTER
AT WUKINGFU

RIVER ROARS DOWN
LIKE TIDAL BORE

(Our Own Correspondent).

Swatow, Sept. 19.
Calamity has struck the Wukingfu and Hopo Districts, which have been devastated by serious floods.

The most serious disaster occurred at Wukingfu where the magnificent new bridge constructed over the river there was destroyed. It was opened only six months ago after the collapse of another bridge which had been constructed some months previously.

Every effort had been made to make the new bridge structurally sound and free from flood perils. A clearance of fifteen feet above the ordinary water level was provided, but even that was insufficient, the floods reaching an unprecedented height.

EIGHTEEN FEET RISE.

The waters of this extraordinary flood rose three feet higher than the bridge. It successfully withstood the force and rush of the water itself, but its doom came when great beams and tree trunks came hurtling down the stream and could not pass the barrage of the bridge's superstructure.

These huge battering-rams, gathering numbers hourly, crashed against the pillars until the bridge collapsed. Three of the five spans were ultimately broken in this way and swept away.

Both in the Hopo and Wukingfu districts the river came down in a huge spate, almost resembling a tidal bore, and assumed a volume greater than ever before in living memory.

HASTY FLIGHTS.

Riverside villages were flooded out so quickly that only the few things that could be snatched up hurriedly were saved from the deluge. Numerous houses collapsed, in some cases through the ignorance of the occupants as to the proper procedure. They closed their doors and so increased the area subject to flood water pressure instead of opening them, and letting the waters have free passage.

At Hopo the flood followed one of a few weeks ago. That itself caused considerable damage. Repairs had almost been completed when the second flood came, swept away all new works and, in fact, left the whole district in a greater state of ruin than before.

RIVER-BOAT STRIKE

OTHER STEAMERS LAID OFF

SEAMEN PRESENT THREE DEMANDS

Following the strike of the Chinese crews of the steamers Sai On and Charles Hardouin, which are laid up in the Canton River, the Tung On S.S. Company, owners of the vessels, have decided to suspend the services of their two other Canton-Hongkong steamers, the Tung On and Paul Beau, which are now in Hongkong.

The management of the Tung On Company told a representative of the 'Telegraph' this morning that an important official of the Company left for Canton yesterday afternoon by train to negotiate with the strikers and no effort will be spared to terminate the dispute. The suspension of the Tung On and Paul Beau is a precaution to prevent the crews from joining the strikers in Canton.

BACKGROUND OF DISPUTE.
Trouble with the Canton Seamen's Guild and certain grievances by the seamen over the company's recent dismissals form the background of the strike.

The Tung On Company also owns the s.s. Hang Cheong and Sing Cheong, Canton-Macao steamers, which have so far not been affected.

The Tung On Company states that the situation will not be clarified until the return from Canton of their representatives, but there is reason to believe that Canton Government officials and the British Consulate at Sharnen will immediately make an endeavour to settle the strike.

REPORT DENIED.

Questioned by our representative regarding the report that the Company is demanding that all its Chinese crews shall pay a certain deposit as a guarantee against smuggling the Tung On officials said that the question of deposits was raised some time ago, but it had never been enforced.

It is understood that the strike does not affect the compradore department.

GUILD'S DEMANDS.

The Canton Seamen's Guild, it is understood from Canton messages, has presented the following demands to the Tung On Company: (1) Dismissal of the existing Chinese inspectors on board the two vessels, (2) increase of wages and (3) reinstatement of the dismissed members of the crew or alternatively that the Guild secure new workers to take their places.

CUBS TAKE NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT

Cuyler Bats in Three Runs

New York, Sept. 20.

Chicago Cubs to-day won the National League pennant by defeating their only challengers, the Pittsburgh Pirates, by five runs to two in the first game of a double-header. They were blanked out, allowed only three scattered hits, in the second game, but the Pirates had left their effort too late.

Cuyler's triple in the seventh inning clinched the all-important game for the Cubs, causing tremendous excitement among the 40,000 spectators. Up to the sixth inning, the sides kept on terms, but Cuyler's triple came when the bases were loaded and the game was placed on ice. Malone pitched a perfect game for the Cubs in the first game.

The Bidding

Neither side was vulnerable.
South passed, West passed and North bid one diamond. East passed and South bid one heart.
West passed and North went to three No Trump which bought the contract.

You will notice that the expert does not allow honours to jeopardize his chances for game.
The great majority of hands that produce five odd in a minor suit will more easily produce three odd at No Trump for a better score.

The Play

East opened his fourth best club
—the four spot—which was won in dummy with the 10 spot. A small spade was returned from dummy and North finessed the 10 spot which was won by East with the jack. Rather than lead to the declarer's ace jack of clubs, East shifted and led his singleton 10 of hearts, dummy played the queen and West won the trick with the ace, returning the eight of clubs.
The declarer went up with the ace, playing the deuce from dummy. Five diamond tricks were then run off by North, the declarer, two small hearts being discarded from dummy and East was forced to discard the three of clubs on the fifth diamond lead.

In order to get a sure count on the East hand, North now led the five of hearts from his own hand.
East showed out discarding another club, which brought him down to the bare king. This left nothing but the king of clubs and spades in the East hand, and therefore the declarer led the queen of clubs from dummy, throwing East in the lead, and East was now forced to lead a spade into the declarer's ace queen.

This play gave North and his partner five odd at No Trump for top score on the board.

LYTTON REPORT

DISTRIBUTION EXPECTED ON OCTOBER 10

Geneva, Sept. 20.
Every effort is being made to prevent a leakage in the Lytton Report. Except for printing, the report and translation are quite ready in French and English. Press summaries have been prepared.
Printing will occupy a fortnight and it is expected that the report will be distributed on October 9 or 10 to all members of the League.

The report will be submitted to the Council which will not discuss it in deference to the Japanese Government's request for a delay of six weeks to enable the Japanese Government to examine the recommendations and send a special delegate to Geneva with full instructions.

It is felt here that the Japanese request is reasonable.

The special assembly for discussing the report will probably meet on November 21 and will remain in session for a fortnight.

OVERCROWDING EVIL

DR. WELLINGTON ON THE DANGERS

TUBERCULOSIS

The annual report of the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services for 1931 is one of the most exhaustive documents of its kind ever published in the Colony. In it Dr. A. R. Wellington deals with every possible phase of the health and sanitary systems.

Speaking of housing conditions
Dr. Wellington says that year by year the population continues to increase, immigration being accelerated by the unrest in China.
There being little room to build further accommodation newcomers have to squeeze into already overcrowded accommodation. Year by year the Sanitary Department and the Building Authority have made efforts to improve the situation, but the task, almost impossible in itself, is rendered more difficult by paucity of water and by opposition put forward both by property owners and occupiers.
It goes without saying that the maintenance of a satisfactory standard of sanitation under such conditions is a most difficult problem and one which cannot be solved without the willing co-operation of the people, he comments, adding:

One thing is certain, so long as buildings are overcrowded and in-sanitary, no amount of external sanitation will give immunity from disease.

Traditional Beliefs.

Regarding the traditional beliefs of the Chinese and their effect on the health problem of the Colony, Dr.
Wellington says:

The traditional beliefs of the uneducated Chinese as to the cause of diseases, the means of spread and the factors which affect its course are so at variance with modern teaching, that there is little chance of promoting voluntary co-operation between them and the authorities in the matter of the prevention and control of disease until they can be brought to understand the true nature of the problems and are conscious of the usefulness of the measures advocated.

The proximity of China and the constant intercourse makes it harder to overcome prejudices than is the case in countries further afield. The greatest hope lies in propaganda and education. However, leaders of opinion in China and leaders of Chinese thought in Hongkong are making vigorous efforts to promote public health and public welfare along lines which proved successful in the Occident, and the outlook is far more hopeful than was the case a few years ago when Chinese thought on matters of health was unduly swayed by old traditions and theories.

The Population.

Under general remarks on public health Dr. Wellington deals with many other subjects, first reviewing the census, concerning which he says:

One of the most important events of the year from the public health point of view was the Census which was taken on March 7. According to the Census figures the population of the City of Victoria was overestimated in 1930 by something like 40 per cent and that of Kowloon and New Kowloon by 20 per cent. The floating population as counted numbered only 75,250 as compared with an estimate made for the middle of 1930 of 100,050.

The population having been overestimated in recent years it follows that real death rates for the Colony were considerably higher than those published in the Annual Reports and that the state of the Public Health was not so good as had been supposed. The crude death rate for 1930 was not 15.14 per mille as published but 21.38 per mille and the death rates for the various diseases were higher in proportion.

In the absence of some general system of registration of sickness the only sources of information available for gauging the state of the public health in this country are the returns relating to deaths, the notifications of infectious diseases and the records of the above mentioned hospitals.

Death Records.

The number of deaths recorded in Hongkong indicates very correctly the deaths which have taken place in the Colony proper and in that portion of the New Territories known as New Kowloon. In the remaining

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Cherry Dixon, pretty 19-year-old daughter of wealthy parents married Dan Phillips, a newspaper reporter, after a quarrel with her parents. It is a Leap Year marriage and Cherry does the proposing.

She and Dan move into a cheap apartment and Cherry's first struggle with housework are discouraging. Elsie Shannon, a friend of the News, is friendly. Cherry meets handsome Max Pearson, also of the News, who tries to make love to her. After several weeks Cherry's mother becomes seriously ill. The girl goes home and there is a reconciliation with her parents. Pride will not allow her to accept financial aid from them, however. Mr. and Mrs. Dixon depart, seeking another climate to improve the mother's health.

Brenda Vail, magazine writer, comes to Wellington and Dan meets her. She asks him to collaborate in writing a play. Dan begins to spend most of his evenings at Miss Vail's apartment. Discord arises between Cherry and Dan. He agrees to meet her for lunch one day but fails to appear. Later she sees him with Brenda. When Cherry accuses Dan of deceiving her they quarrel. He leaves the apartment and when he returns Cherry is gone. A week passes in which he does not hear from her. Dan asks Brenda to go to New York with him. She agrees to go within a week.

Next day Brenda prepares to receive a caller. He is Mr. Harris, representative of a motion picture company, and Brenda hopes the interview will lead to a contract as a scenario writer.

CHAPTER XLV

Dan's voice was excited. "Look!" he cried. "It's my story printed under your by-line. Here in the Sun!" He named a magazine of moderate circulation. "Kempy's Crime"—every word exactly as I wrote it. An advance copy came to the office and I happened to pick it up. How did they get it, Brenda?"

The woman's face had gone white. Her eyes lighted angrily. "What are you doing here?" she demanded. "I told you not to come."

"But I don't understand about this! There must be some explanation, Brenda. They've no right to print my story without paying me. I wanted to see you before sending a telegram."

The blaze in the green eyes deepened. "You can't do that!" Brenda exclaimed. "You may as well know it, I suppose. I sent that story and the cheque did come. I was keeping it for you as a surprise."

"You sent it! Brenda, you took my story?" Incredulity, amazement in the youth's face.

She must have felt the sting of that glance. Brenda's assurance weakened. "I—I didn't mean it that way," she hastened to explain. "There must have been a mistake. I sent the story but of course I thought they'd use your name over it. You don't think I'd try to take credit for your story, do you? You wouldn't accuse me of that!"

"The cheque—" Dan said levelly. "That was made out to you, too, I suppose?"

"Why—why, yes, Dan. I'd give it to you this minute but I don't have it here. I'll get it tomorrow."

"So you wanted to surprise me?" Dan repeated. His lip twisted. "Well, you did that, all right. Quite a surprise, Brenda!"

The woman drew away from him. She put one hand to her cheek in a gesture that had been rehearsed frequently. Wistfulness, a pleading note came into her voice.

"Surely you're not doubting me?" she said softly. "It's all a mistake, Dan. A dreadful mistake!"

There was a pause. Then Dan

Impatience crossed Brenda's forehead. She'd have to get rid of this fool. He was making a nuisance of himself.

"I had one letter. Of course," she agreed sweetly. "But I destroyed it long ago. Oh, Dan, if you don't believe me I don't know what I'll do! Nobody's ever accused me of such a thing in my life! Why would I take your story? I don't see how you can even think of such a thing. You—you said you loved me!"

"Brenda, you've got to let me see that letter!"

"But I don't have it! I told you it was destroyed."

"Then I'll write the editor and find out for myself. I'm going to know the truth about this thing!"

Suddenly Brenda Vail's fury overrode all caution. Her face twisted angrily. "If you do that you'll be sorry!" she cried. "I'm giving you warning. You can have your old cheque if you want it. It was only $100 anyhow. What if I did sell the story? It was my name that made them take it—not because it was such a good story. I wish you'd get out of here now. Get out and stay out!"

Phillips did not stir. "I'll go," he said slowly, "as soon as a few more things have been cleared up."

"Oh, no I'm not! Not for several minutes yet." There was something about the level, unemotional tone that was more alarming than anger. "Perhaps," he went on, "you've forgotten, Miss Vail, that yesterday you agreed to go away with me. To New York. There was even a little discussion of marriage, if I'm not mistaken. I seem to recall that you said you were fond of me. Wanted to help me in my career, didn't you? Career—that's a laugh! That's great!"

"When you're through with this idiosyncrasy—"

"Idiosyncrasy! That's what it is today, is it? Well—why not? All this is very interesting. Interesting and instructive. By the way, I thought you had a headache this afternoon."

"Do you find them a good cure for headache? Have to try the remedy some time myself. One would almost conclude that you're expecting company. No wonder you'd like to have your little friend, Daniel, run along! You wouldn't by any chance tell me whom you're expecting?"

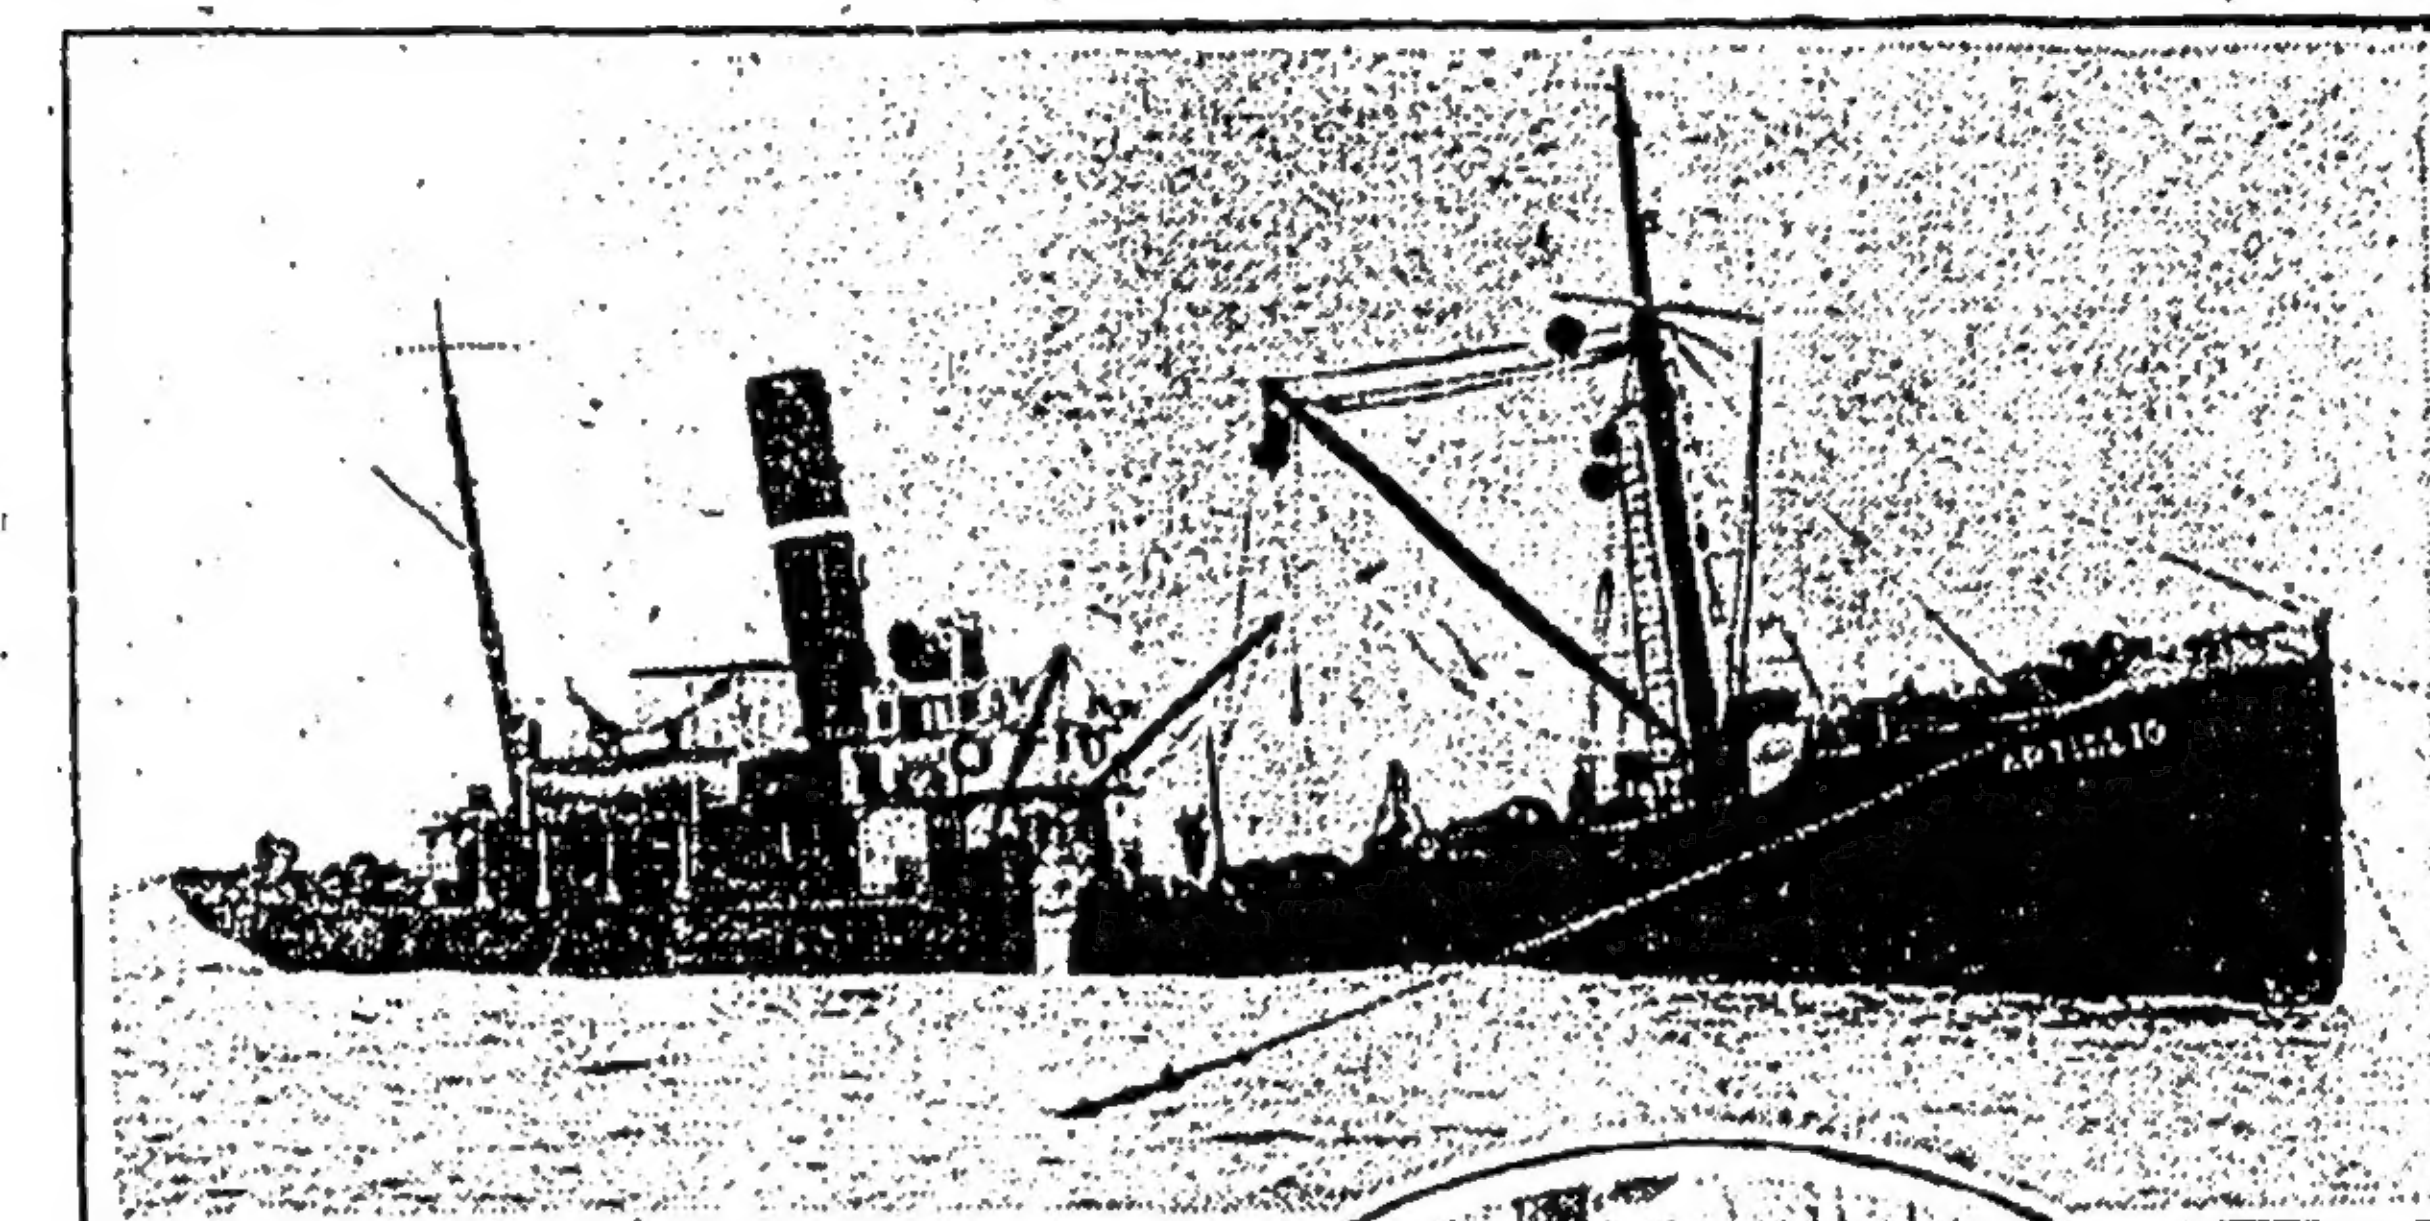

"No, I wouldn't!"

"Then I think I'll stay and find out. As you fancy I'm entitled—"

Brenda Vail whirled. "I've stood about enough of this!" she exclaimed hotly. "You're going to leave here—but first—I've a few things to say myself. It seems to take a lot to get an idea through of you! Do you hear that? I've been tired of you for weeks. The only reason I promised to go to New York was to make you stop talking about it. And maybe you'd like to know that silly play you wrote has come back from every agent I sent it to. When I told you a producer was considering it that was a lie. No producer would take a drive like that! The agents said it was hopeless. Well—what do you think of that now?"

Dan crossed the room to the small table. "I think I'll have a cocktail," he said quietly. "I think I need it."

He filled a glass and downed it in a swallow. When he turned he was smiling but it was not a pleasant smile.

"That about makes it complete, doesn't it?" Phillips asked. "You've sold my story and spent the money. The play's a flop. Now you want me to get out. Yes, I guess that just about makes it complete!"

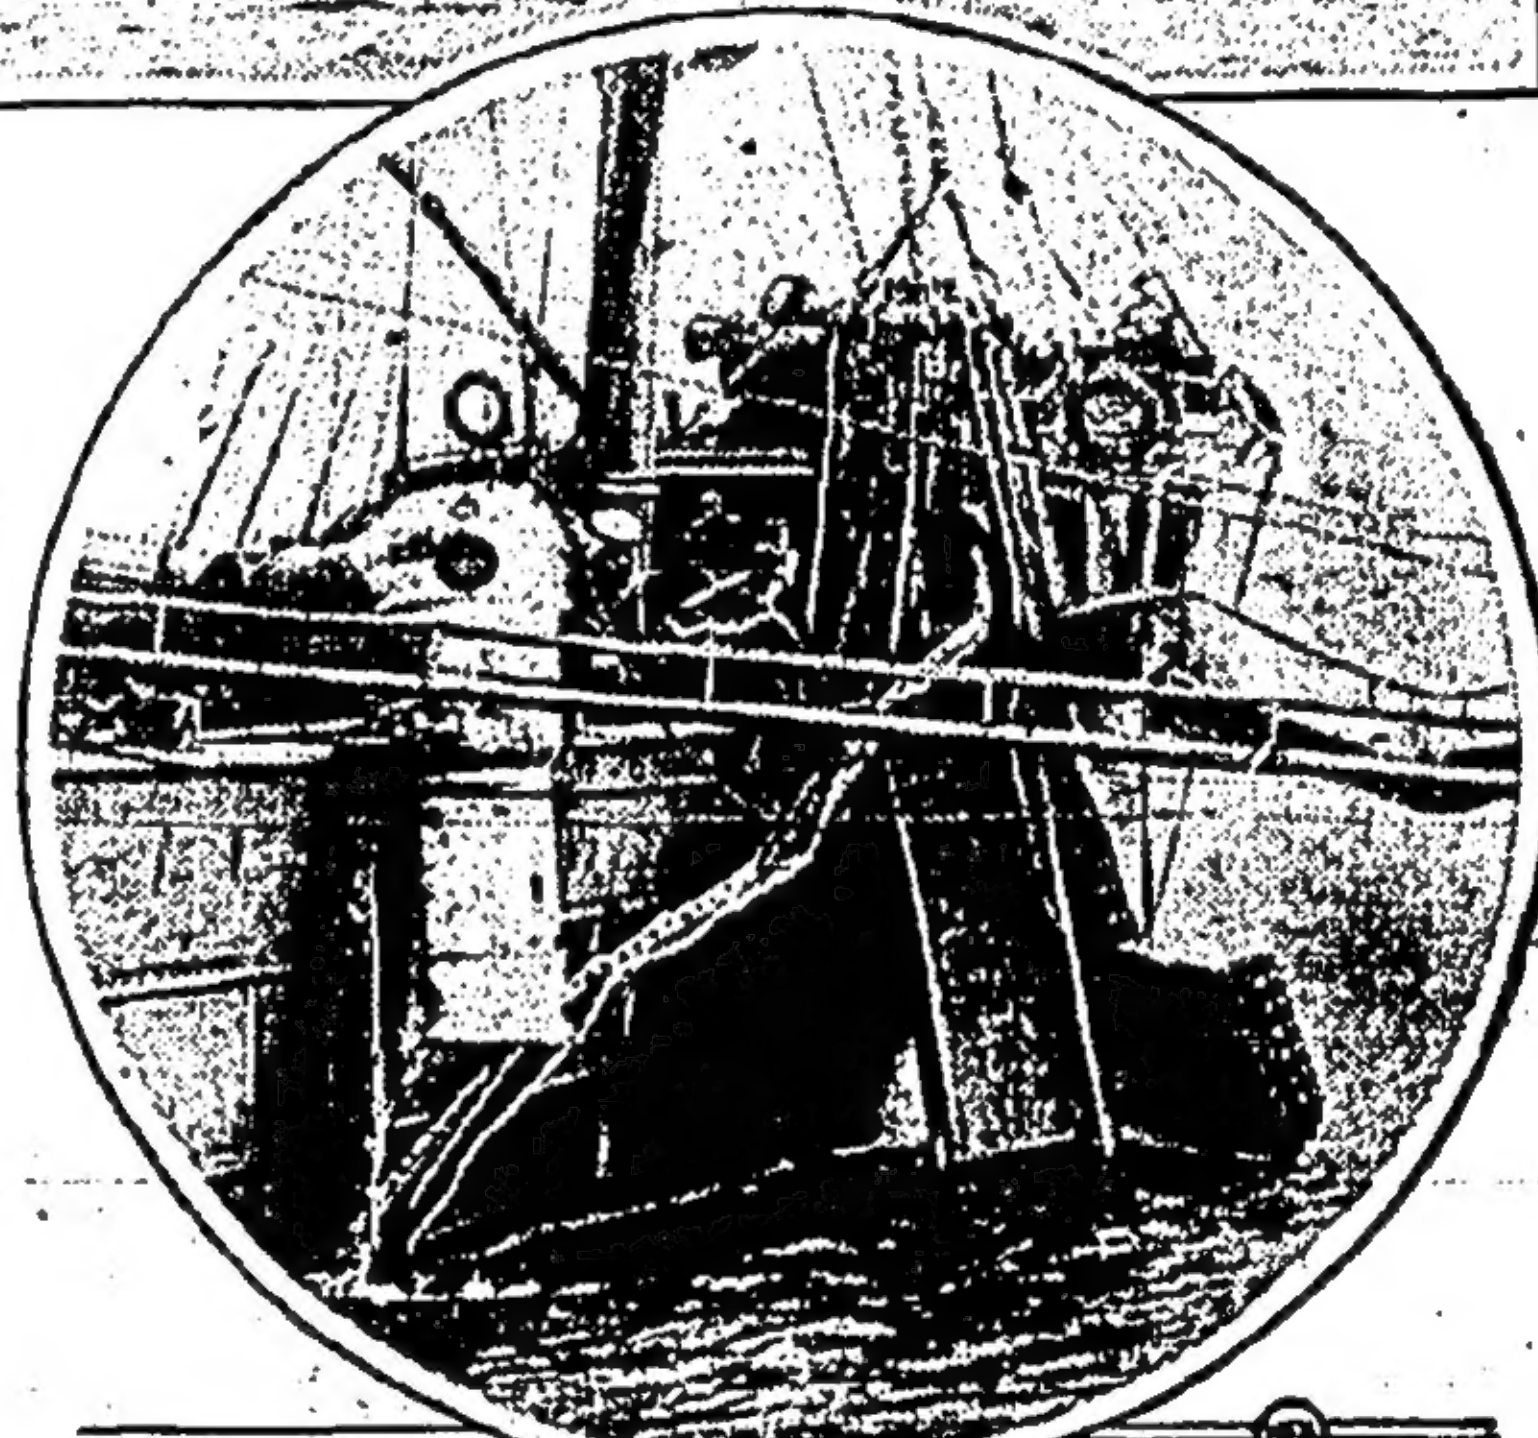

Brenda watched uncertainly. Had she said too much? She must get him away immediately, no matter how it was accomplished. She hesitated, seeking the right approach.

Phillips poured a second cocktail and drank it. "Want me to go, don't you?" he said easily. "Pretty anxious about that."

"Please go, Dan. There's nothing more to be said between us. I'm sorry if I've been unkind but it's better to have the truth come out. It's better for both of us. I'd like to be alone now."

"Alone? What about the cocktails here? And the guest you're expecting? Oh, no, you're not going to be alone! By the way, who is he?"

Of course I'm sure it's a man."

The appearance of a mystery craft in the vicinity of the Artiglio II (top picture) has caused the master to arm all the men aboard as a precaution. The vessel is still robbing "Davy Jones' locker" of the Egypt's gold and there was a fear that a "piratical" gang might try to rob the Artiglio.

me. I don't know why I should be interested anyhow. Whoever the poor devil is I wish him luck! And now that everything's clearly understood between us there's just one thing more I want to say. Then I'll clear out! Of all the low-down, underhanded, double-crossing humbugs I've met you take the prize. I don't know the tricks you've pulled they'd call him a punk or a cur but both animals are a hundred times above you. You're the sort—"

Brenda's exclamation cut him short. "You fool!" she shouted. "You can't stand in my home and talk to me like that. Why, you poor sap, lot of nerve you've got! Think you can write—going to be a great author! Bah, I'm sick of hearing those pipe dreams. Stand there and shut your damned mouth!"

She had forgotten everything in the frenzy of her anger. Phillips watched her, scarcely able to believe his eyes. This was not the Brenda Vail he knew. The woman was a stranger. Her face was paper white. Her thin lips worked nervously.

"So you think you can high-hat Brenda Vail!" she cried shrilly. "Suppose I tell you that the man coming here this afternoon is one of the biggest motion picture men in Hollywood. M. P. Harris of United Artists—that's who's coming here. And what's more, he's going to buy two of my stories to make into pictures. I'm going to Holly-

THE SCOTT CENTENARY

Hongkong Scotsmen do well to-night to honour the memory of Sir Walter Scott, the great novelist, historian and poet, the centenary of whose death is being observed in all parts of the world to-day. It has well been said of Scott that he exalted and purified the novel and made the name of Scotland known throughout the world. Prior to his advent, Scottish history was virtually an unwritten mine; the Waverley novels changed all that. What is more, by his erudition, his unconventional manner of writing, and his total freedom from the academic point of view, he exercised a vast influence on the intellectual life of his country. In character, courageous, generous and genial, he made a deep impression on those who enjoyed his friendship. Of his works, it is sufficient to say that they have won him lasting and worldwide fame.

The centenary is being marked by the publication of a wealth of Scott literature which is sure to find a wide and ready market. Amongst these may be mentioned a "Pageant" in which the best passages from Scott's novels will appear in an anthology selected by Mr. Hugh Walpole. Then there is a further selection from Scott's Letter Books, which Mr. Walpole has enabled Mr. Wilfrid Partington to produce. It is entitled "Sir Walter's Post Bag," and it includes those letters which were omitted from the earlier volume, "The Private Letter Books of Sir Walter Scott." In passing, it may be noticed that Mr. Walpole intends to bequeath this his acquisition to the National Library of Scotland—a gesture which is most welcome, seeing that the letters are of surpassing interest and value. The publication of these new letters has raised some interesting comment. Harold Nicholson, the well-known reviewer, for example, claims that Scott was a snob, adding "I like kind to his dependants. He was the nicer sort of snob: the civil sort... He was sympathetic to the fallings of others. He was loyal to a degree. He was modest, humorous and wise." We will pass over these words and proceed to take note that Mr. Partington's work has served to recall the tremendous number of letters with which Scott was called upon to deal. Day after day, it is shown, heavy bags of mail would be dumped at Abbotsford, costing the recipient some £100 a year in postal fees. Yet, we are told, Scott was always kindly in such matters, treating the importunate with amazing friendliness. By the thirteenth letter book, Sir Walter's post bag became a thing of terror: "It bores," as Mr. Partington aptly remarks, "become more boring, its beggars more brazen, its toadies tondler."

What is to be learned, from these letters, of the character of Sir Walter Scott? To quote the reviewer, "it is clear, in the first place, that serious people trusted him with their most intimate confidences. It is clear also that men and women of distinction realised that behind his vanity there existed a core of dignity, pride, and excellent sense. It is clear that this 'darling of the public' could flout the public whenever, as in the Byron scandal, loyalty was involved. It is clear also that he was politely bored by the adulation offered. M. Charles Nodier, no inconsiderable figure, sent him some adulatory verses. Scott docketed this effusion as follows:—'French elege. Moonshine in water. Three blue beans in a blue bladder.' Contrast this sort of sense with the hysterical complacency of a Victor Hugo. There is no comparison. Scott, as a character, emerges at his centenary virile and supreme."

Old England Disappearing.

The battle in England between mellow old beauty and insistent modern utility has recently found quite a number of lovely avenues, old cottages and quaint villages in the front line. Mr. Justice Eve, a distinguished London High Court judge, says of the new traffic ways: "I regard those long black streaks of roads that traverse mile after mile of the country with nothing short of horror." Progress, the motor-car, the charabancs and the packing of 75 per cent. of the English people into towns, shout, "We must get about quickly! Out of the way with these old hindrances!" Thus are beauty spots butchered to make an omnibus holiday. Desecration of rural scenery in recent years has called into being a Roads Beautifying Association which is striving to endow highways with something of the beauty of old English roads and lanes. In one of more of the English housing laws in which compulsion was used against reluctant landholders, Parliament inserted a clause saying that "regard should be had to the amenities of the neighbourhood." So with roads and other "improvements" and "developments." The bludgeon should be used sparingly by those engaged in carving England for the new speed. England is in a peculiar position in this matter. She is small. There is the story of "the American visitor," who is said to have remarked, "In England I'm afraid to go for a walk before breakfast for fear of falling off the island." It is not so small as that. But the more of her rustic charm she loses, the less she has. And the carvers of England for the new speed might well remember that the country of Sulgrave Manor and Boston, Lincolnshire, and Stratford-on-Avon cannot afford the loss of her quiet countryside. The more turbulent the sparking plugs of progress, the greater the value of the leafy peace that is England.

In connexion with the redecoration of the King's Restaurant dining-room and dance hall, which has won much favourable comment, it may be noted that the curtains and pelmet of modern design artificial silk, in shades of gold, orange, green and blue, and the charming gold parchment lamp

PEACE OF MIND IS FREEDOM OF MIND, IN THAT IT SUBMITS TO THE NECESSITY OF EVENTS, AND FOLLOWS THEIR LAWS AS IF THE HEART ITSELF HAD NO CONCERN IN THEM.—Asterbach.

A woman earth carrier was injured yesterday in a fall from an upper story of a house under construction at Yuechow Street. She was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital with a fractured arm and other injuries.

Fr. L. Banchio, of the local Italian Mission, left for Naples on the Hakone Maru on Saturday. He has been invalided home on medical advice to enter a sanatorium for nervous diseases, and may be expected back in about a year.

A corpse recovered from the water near the Kowloon Godowns yesterday, has been identified as being that of Leung Ping-hang an unemployed seaman, of 20, Park Street, who committed suicide on Sunday by throwing himself from the ferry Man Wal.

It is requested that members of the public interested in the ceremony connected with the distribution of police medals by H. E. the Officer Administering the Government in the compound of the Central Police Station to-morrow, be in their places by 4.55 p.m.

During the week ended September 17, four cases of cholera, with three deaths, (two imported) were reported. Of the cholera cases, two were from Victoria and two from Kowloon. There were also three cases of typhoid, with one death, one case of diphtheria, and one death from meningitis. Deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis last week totalled forty-eight. On Monday there was a clean bill of health.

OFF THE GOOD MANNERS

By DOUGLAS JERROLD STANDARD

EACH age faces life in a different manner. Looking backward over history we recall England adventurous under Elizabeth and timid under the first Stuarts; England puritan under Cromwell and broad under the Restoration; England drunk under the four Georges and sober under Victoria; England making a public display of virtue from 1850 to 1890, and making a public display of levity from 1890 to 1914.

But if the manner altered, sometimes for better and sometimes for worse, manners remained, to testify to the robust integrity of the social frame work and to a fundamental agreement about the fundamental loyalties.

To-day manners of any kind are out of fashion. We say what we think and not what society thinks we ought to think. We do what we like, and the more it displeases our friends the better pleased we are with ourselves.

Musical Comedy Test.

All generalisations are faulty, and this one perhaps no less so than the others. But the student of manners is particularly fortunate in one respect: he has one disinterested guide, one almost infallible, because impersonal, source of reference. Not his friends, not his acquaintances, not even his enemies, but those whose business it is to hold the mirror up to nature.

To study contemporary manners we go not to Mayfair or Belgrave, but to the theatres of Piccadilly-circus and Shaftesbury-avenue. The play's the thing. And a very strange thing it is too!

We must take our cue, of course, not from the theatre proper, which apes the manners of the epoch it is representing, but from the musical comedy and the farce. And what do we find?

All our old friends are gone. The innocent country girl with a voice of silver and a heart of gold; the impetuous Earl and his inseparable friend; the equally impetuous but slightly more intelligent younger son; the sinister company promoter with designs on the heroine's virtue; the stern father with the explosive temper; and the chorus of elegant young people ready to go off suitably gowned and tailed to Monte Carlo or Equatorial Africa at a moment's notice—all these and a host of others are but so many supers in that legion of ghosts which wanders insistently, perhaps too insistently, through this strange modern world.

No Man's Land.

With their corporeal presence gone their language, their idioms, and their accent. "Mine's a Scotch," I actually heard a musical-comedy hero say a few weeks back. Shades of George Grossmith, whose privilege it used to be, as Max Beerbohm said, to make the ridiculous sublime. But not in that language. See you? Oh yeah! I don't profess to have this patois of the half-world at the tip of my tongue. Indeed, one's only pleasure in visiting the world of the modern musical comedy is to feel that one is getting an authentic glimpse of a world where no white man has ever penetrated. We might even say "no man."

The Modern Hero.

These yearning young suburbanites with their pertly sophisticated young women speaking the language of Hollywood with occasional assistance in pronunciation from the pseudo-Oxford accents of the B.B.C. announcers, give me the impression of being moral by compulsion. A few broad jokes would clean the atmosphere.

The great race of music-hall comedians is extinct save for a few veterans. It has been driven off the boards by anemic double-jointed young men hisping their double entendres in accents capable of only one explanation.

The simple vices are as unfashionable as the strong drinks; the modern hero prefers bath salts to beef steaks. The most damning indictment of the whole thing, of the reality and the imitation alike, is that it took Mr. Noel Coward only two minutes of dumb show in the Night Club scene in "Cavalcade" to get it all down—and out.

The pre-war convention had its drawbacks. I shudder to think how many votes the late George Edwards won for the late Lord Oxford in his House of Lords campaign by his invariable habit of giving an hereditary title to the duke in every musical comedy he staged. But at least the duke was a gentleman and behaved as such. It took the arm of coincidence stretched to its utmost to get him into even the most faintly compromising situation.

"Something Different."

As for what the modern librettist would call his "girl friend," her radiant innocence would have made Dickens's heroines fast by comparison. She too, of course, was a peer's daughter, when the truth was known, or at least she was an heiress, and it was a convention of those simple days that heiresses were unfailingly aristocratic. And as with famous men—according to their official biographies—the other girls—circus girls, Quaker girls, country girls and what not—had all along noticed "something different" about her. How idiotic it all was.

But was it? William of Wykeham, when he founded Winchester and New College, Oxford, some centuries ago, chose as their motto the celebrated "Manners maketh man." Was he wrong? Perhaps he was. But it is at least certain that for nearly five hundred years society has proceeded on the assumption that he was right.

To-day for the first time the tide is turning against him. We have gone off the Gold Standard, and the Cabinet standard, and the two-Power standard without any very disastrous results, and so there is a certain superficial logic in our slide from the manners standard. But is it really wise to cut ourselves off so quickly and so completely from the habits of other and certainly more prosperous days?

There is a case against romanticism, of course. We need our Shaws, our Maughams, and our Lonsdales to take the gilt off the gingerbread occasionally. Nature has two sides and the mirror must reflect them both. But there is no justification that I can see for idealising the second rate, for romanticising the vulgar, and for gilding the suburban hollyhock and housing it as an orchid.

Bright Young Things.

"Manners maketh man." But bad manners do not even make bad men: they only make gigolos. Let us get back soon and for good to our silly romantic world where every girl speaks with the tongue of an angel and every man is brave and strong and chivalrous. Manners may be artificial, but so are the virtues. Hearts of gold may and do beat under rough exteriors, but a man who deliberately refuses to learn or sets aside manners has a heart of brass.

Great men in every generation have spoken to their contemporaries in the accents of the common people, but never in the argot of the contemporary bright young things.

We are not here to express ourselves, but to help other people. Manners are the grammar of virtue. Conventional "good manners" may only be an imitation of this reality, but when good manners become a habit the Yahoo becomes a citizen. An age of bad manners is an age of bad citizens: an age which treats unpleasant vices as jokes is an age without a sense of humour, and an age which will never learn to criticise itself.

Better than Hamlet.

When we regain our sense of humour we shall realise that the language of Shakespeare is superior to the language of Hamlet; that the accents of Gladstone are superior to the accents of a love-sick saxophonist; and that the reticence of our parents was more sophisticated and more expressive than the "frankness" of Bloomsbury. In which connexion, as they say in the House of Commons, students of sociology may note that the fall in the birth rate from 25 to 12 per thousand in seven years is the most catastrophic fall ever recorded in the whole history of the

BOYCOTTEMBARGO ON THE HERRINGS

Manila, Sept. 19.

According to Mr. W. J. Riddiford, Assistant Trade Commissioner for Canada in Hongkong, who has just arrived here, the Chinese boycott of Japan is so intensive and extensive in character that it has affected a branch of the fishery trade in Canada.

Mr. Riddiford explains that before the boycott, Canada exported 50,000 tons of packed herring a month to China at one cent gold per pound. The Chinese, however, found out that 40 or 50 per cent of the herring packing factories were owned by Japanese and a boycott was declared against this product, whether or not it was made by a Japanese or a Canadian concern.

In order to remedy this situation, the Canadian factory owners and government bought out the larger Japanese herring packing factories and those who refused to sell out have been restricted to selling their products only in Manchuria and Japan proper.

EMPRESS LINER IN TYPHOONTHE "CANADA" COMES THROUGH WELL

"She is the steadiest ship on the ocean," said Captain Inley, Commander of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, in describing his experiences when the vessel encountered the recent typhoon en route to Manila.

"We encountered a gale force of up to 50 miles per hour as soon as we passed Wuzhan," he continued, "and the wind blew at that force all through Friday night. The centre of the typhoon passed slightly ahead, to the westward and we experienced exceptionally heavy swells from the east and south-east until eventually the ship had to slow up."

"Although the wind and sea was on our quarter when we left Hongkong, it gradually worked ahead, and during Friday night we continuously shipped heavy seas. With the exception of some slight pitching, which occurs with any ship of the size of the Empress of Canada, the liner behaved marvelously well."

"Very heavy rain squalls occurred all day Saturday, but after a while we were able to put on more speed and arrived at Manila on schedule. The lowest barometer reading during the trip across was 29.20, which represented a fairly substantial fall. The wind reached force nine on several occasions on Friday."

The usually spotless Empress liner testified to the ordeal she had been through when she berthed at Kowloon this morning. Red rust, from the sea and rain, showed where once white paint had been, and an army of painters were on the job early this morning, removing all traces of her battle with the elements.

RECORD AT FIRST ATTEMPTYOUNG MAN WHO PERSISTED

A man who had never taken part in a motor-car race and had never before seen the course, smashed the course record in the first practice for the British Tourist Trophy Car Grand Prix on the Ards Circuit outside Belfast.

He was Freddie Dixon, the motor-cyclist idol of Yorkshire speedmen.

For four years Dixon's requests to car racing firms to be given a chance on this course have been refused.

74 Miles an Hour

He had a splendid revenge when, in his own Riley, he created a new record for cars with engines of over 750 c.c., and up to 1,100 c.c. He covered the course in 11min. 3sec.—an average of 74.17 miles an hour, and 17sec. better than the previous best performance in last year's race.

And—he only took one minute more than Sir Henry Birkin, the famous car racer, who knows the circuit as well as he knows Mayfair, and had a more powerful car.

Sir Henry Birkin, driving an Italian Alfa Romeo, with a maximum speed of 125 m.p.h., also broke the record of his class, by an average of 8.14 sec.

In other games, New York Giants beat Boston Braves by 13 runs to 3. Terry hit a home run. Ott hit two home runs and batted in six runs. Urbanek and Schulte hit for the circuit for Boston, as did Stripp and White for the Dodgers, Pucello for the Cards, and Porter for Cleveland.

GANDHI STARTS ON GREAT FAST.ADVISED TO RECEIVE NO MORE VISITORS

Poona, Sept. 20.

Having refused the Government's terms for a conditional release from prison, Gandhi started his great fast in his cell at Yeravda Gaol at noon to-day.

The Government removed its embargo on visitors, among the first to call being representatives of the Hindus, including the untouchables, on whose behalf his fast is being made, as a protest against the British Government's solution of the problem of the depressed classes in the communal award.

Later in the day however it was reported that Gandhi was indisposed, and his doctor advised him not to see any more visitors at present.—Reuter.

Hindu Disturbances.

Ahmedabad, Sept. 20.

The beginning of Gandhi's fast coincided with ugly demonstrations by orthodox Hindus at the gates of the temple here. The object was reported to be the frustrating of the proposal to admit the untouchables.

The police dispersed the angry crowd.—Reuter.

Women's Appeal.

Geneva, Sept. 20.

A telegram deploring the possibility of Gandhi's death by fasting has been addressed to Mr. Ramsay MacDonald by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, which is meeting here.—Reuter.

Son Leaves Africa.

Durban, Sept. 20.

Gandhi's eldest son has sailed for India. He proposes to remain with his father during his "fast unto death."—Reuter's Special.

POISONEDALL ADMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Tai Kiu (21), Chu Ma (21) and Cheung Sha-mui, all married women sharing an unnumbered house in Sha Lo Ha Village, Kowloon City district, were admitted to the Kowloon Hospital yesterday in a condition indicative of their having been poisoned.

A sample of the tea which they had been drinking, and which is believed to have contained the poisonous element, has been forwarded to the Government Laboratory.

AS RUSSIA SEES BRITAIN

"CONFLICT"

In a jubilant Jeremiad over "the decline and fall of the British Empire," illustrated by Ottawa, the Soviet organ, Pravda, asserts that the United States, an invisible presence at the Round Table, smashed the Imperial Conference.

"The Anglo-American conflict always spelt failure for Ottawa. England has failed in her aim to show Americans that the British Empire is united. Ottawa has merely exposed England's conflict with her own Dominions."

"There will be no triumphant return from Canada for Mr. Baldwin. He knows this. That is why the British delegation has changed its tactics and now takes a long shot, right over the Imperial Conference's head, at the International Economic Conference."

"Rival Giants."

"Mr. Baldwin stages a duel with the United States there, and Mr. Hoover accepts his challenge. In his last speech the President referred to the debt problem in a way which meant to say:

"The United States is ready to bargain. It is all a question of price, and our price is the surrender by England of her world hegemony."

"Ottawa—which is a mere arena for a fight between two rival imperialistic giants, England and the United States, and a mere threshold for the opening of the International Economic Conference—has merely served to embitter the Anglo-American conflict."

Thus does Pravda maintain that England is losing the fight against American penetration of the British Empire—a fight which in the Bolshevik mind is a mere prelude to an Anglo-American war, of course lost in advance by England.

Pravda's motive becomes clear by a passing parallel it makes between American exports to Canada and Soviet exports to England.

"Canada wants Preference for wheat, lumber and meat at the Soviet's expense. The anti-Soviet demonstration organised by Canadian lumbermen was therefore clever tactics during the Conference, but if the British and the Canadians come to terms at Ottawa, the real blow will fall on America."

QUICK-CHANGE
GIRLSTHROUGH EYES OF DRAPERS

Fashions in faces (Shall I be pale or rosycheeked, demure, haughty, serious or smiling this morning?) were discussed at the summer school of the Drapers' Chamber of Trade at Oxford.

"There are fashions in everything," said Mr. Holbrook Jackson. "As for face fashions, at the moment parents cannot be certain whether their daughters will come to dinner with the same face they wore at breakfast."

Perhaps the most remarkable fashion of all, said Mr. Jackson, had been the variation of the style of the human form, almost every part of which at one time or another had been subjected to some kind of fashionable disfigurement.

"Women now refuse to permit themselves to expand in width or length, and to be correct to-day they have to be rather short, somewhat flat, and very slim. It would be interesting to know what shape women will take in ten years' time." (Laughter.)

Fashion was the greatest stimulant known to commerce, and the country which controlled fashion would control the world.

He mentioned signs that London was challenging Paris in the control of fashion.

Wearing The Trousers.

Other foibles of women came in for comment—for instance, the practice of having a gown sent on approval, wearing it at an evening function, and returning it next day as unsuitable.

"In the fur and evening wraps departments of my firm we have had to fix little metal tabs on articles sent out on approval to prevent customers from wearing them once and then returning them. The effect has been remarkable."

Mr. Trevor Handley said that the wearing of trousers by women was a symbol of the changed outlook of women to-day. He foreboded the time when women would be the superior sex and the dominant partner in human relationships.

WHEEL FLIES 30 FEET INTO THE AIRPeer's Son Driving and Unhurt

Two acts of brilliant driving both of which averted almost certain tragedy, marked the second day's practice of the 36 cars which raced for the British T. T. Car Grand Prix on the Ards Circuit.

In one, the back-axle casing of the Hon. Brian Lewis's Talbot broke and a rear wheel left the car.

In the other, the M. G. Midget, driven by H. C. Hamilton, a Londoner, skidded and crashed into a hedge and bank. Hamilton had his collar-bone and a rib—broken, and his mechanic, the Marquis de Bellerche, a London photographer, had broken ribs, a strained back and a broken arm.

The record which Freddie Dixon, the old-time motor-cyclist, made with a Riley had stirred the other drivers, and speeds were remarkable.

Wonderful Steering.

T. E. Rosa Richards, with a Talbot, recorded the first high speed with an average of 76.36 m.p.h.

Then Lewis, who is a son of Lord Essendon, tried to beat this. At Quarry Bank corner there was a sharp crack. The offside rear wheel flew 30ft. into the air and landed 170yds. away in a field.

With the car riding on the broken rim Lewis steered it wonderfully and brought it to rest without hurt either to himself or to his mechanic, Mr. W. Fox, of Messrs. Fox and Nichols, the Kingston By-pass car agents.

Speeds became staggering. C. S. Staniland, the air pilot, in a Riley, averaged 74.51 m.p.h. Midget with an average of 74.39 m.p.h. and Victor Gillow, the London garage owner in his Riley, with 76.54.

S Bend Complications.

It was in trying to beat Gillow's average, a Midget against a Riley, 750 c.c. against 1,100 c.c., that Hamilton crashed on the "S" bend at Bullstock. Another Midget was in his way and in passing him, he got out of the safe path and skidded into the hedge and bank.

The car rolled back into the road throwing both men clear. Gillow was just behind. His braked car got into a broadside skid, narrowly missed the crashed car, and then shot tail first between the wrecked car, the other Midget and the two men lying on the ground.

BURGLAR CHASE

ELUDES HUNDRED POLICEMEN

Policemen hiding behind tombstones; policemen climbing up ladders and stackpiles; policemen scrambling over roof tops:—

These were incidents in a 24-hour hunt for a ghost-like burglar in and around a block of buildings adjoining Bunhill Fields burial ground, E.C.

Nearly 100 police searched all night for the intruder, using the handlamps of cars as searchlights. They saw the man at a window and on the roof, but he evaded capture.

He first entered the premises of Messrs. W. J. Saville and Co., wholesale paper merchants, in Featherstone-street, by means of a ladder placed against a second-floor window.

Mr. E. J. Saville said: "We have three buildings totalling 17 floors all stacked with great piles of paper in and out of which the burglar dodged. There is a maze of narrow passages through the stacks of paper in which a man might hide for a month."

In the office the man ransacked drawers, broke open desks, and cut open travellers' suit cases, but all he got was two fountain pens.

ARRESTED SHIP
CLAIMSFRENCH OFFICERS AS PLAINTIFFS

Sitting in Admiralty Jurisdiction this morning at the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, heard a case in which claims for £1,884.74 for necessities supplied by the A. Yvon and Cheong Co. of 74 and 75, Connaught-road Central, were made against the Gr. Gal. Maurice Long II, a French vessel at present in the custody of the Court; and claims for wages amounting to approximately $5,000 by Paul Guyot, officers on the vessel.

Mr. H. C. Macnamara appeared for the plaintiffs in both cases.

SYMPHONY CONCERT.

JAPANESE PRODIGY TO APPEAR NEXT SUNDAY

From Japan has arrived a great concert player. He is Sadao Iwai a remarkable xylophonist of 13 years of age, a young Japanese genius. In Shanghai during his concerts he brought his audiences to the pitch of enthusiasm.

He interpreted during his concerts three eight numbers, all classical compositions including Liszt.

He belongs to a musical family, his mother being an accomplished pianist and his father an excellent violinist. It is claimed that he enchants his audiences with his clear, gay and strong execution and his continuous serenity.

The more he plays the more he inspires veneration. He commenced playing at the early age of seven making a great impression on all who heard him. He learnt all by himself and was soon known as the "Virtuoso of the Xylophone."

He gave memorable concerts at the Imperial Palace in Tokyo before the Emperor of Japan, and all the members of the Royal family; also at the International Club in Nanking, at the Rotary Club in Shanghai, with the Russian Orchestra in Harbin, and with the Municipal Band of Shanghai.

His preferable composers are Mendelssohn, Chopin, Winkler, Rubenstein, Goldard, Liszt, etc. The family is now touring China and the Philippines, following which they will go to Europe and then to the United States of America.

This young artiste will be heard at the Peninsula Hotel on Sunday evening next, in conjunction with the orchestra at the symphonic concert.

PHOSFERINE

CHAMPION OOI LEONG TEIK

writes:—

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I write to testify to the benefits I have received by taking Phosferine during my training for the 1931 Malayan Weight-Lifting Championships.

As I had to reduce some seven or eight pounds off my normal body-weight in order to enable me to compete in the 9-stone class, I had to go into very strenuous training, and with the help of Phosferine, I not only won the championship of that class, but also the Individual Championship, and, in addition I broke a British Record.

I therefore have no hesitation in recommending Phosferine to any physical culturist or athlete, whether he be in ordinary training or preparing for a competition, as it GIVES ENERGY & ENDURANCE & RENOVES BROKEN-DOWN TISSUE."

NEW AUBURN STRAIGHT EIGHTS DUAL RATIO

Dual Ratio, exclusive with Auburn and special equipment in all Custom Models gives you the equivalent of two cars in one; in the hills a most efficient hill climber; on the straight-away a smoother, quieter performance at high speeds with less wear and tear on the motor and running parts. On the boulevard or in the country with your car moving 20 to 60 M.P.H., turn the Dual Ratio lever on the instrument panel from Low Ratio to High Ratio and while your car continues at the same speed the motor speed drops down one-third of its former speed. Less vibration, quieter, and more economical.

1932 TENNIS LEAGUE

FINAL POSITIONS AND ANALYSIS

I.R.C. LOSE 2 TITLES

NEARLY 99% OF THE MATCHES PLAYED

(By "VERITAS").

With the tennis league season of 1932 officially closed, I am able to give for the first time the completed tables in all divisions.

It will be seen that once again a certain number of fixtures have remained unplayed, though the total is only four throughout the four sections.

The "A" Division again failed to show up in its true colours, the teams displaying lack of interest. South China finished up with two matches outstanding, leaving the "A" with 80 per cent. of the games played.

Only one match was left unplayed in the "B" Division and one in the "C," whilst in the Mixed Doubles the entire programme was carried out.

Altogether the clubs have cause for satisfaction in the manner the fixtures were carried through, the percentage for the whole league being 98.8, which compares favourably with previous seasons.

Two championships changed hands, the Chinese Recreation Club capturing the "A" title from the Indian Recreation Club and at the same time bringing off the coveted triple by retaining the "B" and "C" honours, whilst the United Services Recreation Club achieved a fine performance in disposing the I.R.C. from the head of the Mixed Doubles League.

The final League placings are:—

THESE TYPHOONS

By Edward Kelly, Weather Clerk.

All this talk about typhoons leaves us cold—stone cold. In a cold sweat, as a matter of fact. We were told on Friday that we were going to get a typhoon. When we said, "No, thank you, we don't want one," people stared.
We waited all Friday night and Saturday. We have lost our faith in typhoons since then.
We know all there is to know about typhoons, for we are married. We went along to the Royal Observatory at Kowloon one day to see if Mr. Jeffries could tell us how to forecast an approaching storm. All he could do was to try and interest us in barometers, anemometers, and all the other demeters weather prophets use. So we left.
Anyway, we wouldn't be a meteorologist now if they begged us to. Weather men are always disliked by the public, and they lead Ishmaelish lives. When they make out their weather forecasts, which are broadcast by ZBW, and read in all the papers, they say the weather to-morrow is going to be fine. Then an isobar fuses, or the aeroid gets adenoids, and the weather man gets wet going home. Young couples curse him freely, and the only people who are pleased are the ricksha coolies. It's a hard life.
Weather Report:—The depression has deepened in the south-west pocket, and dry weather may be expected until the end of the month. The cyclone, which has been stationary at the Flat, is expected to increase in intensity when the wife discovers that the month's pay has disappeared. A cool change is imminent, accompanied by thunderstorms, gradually moping into wintry conditions when the chaff calls. Position at 9 a.m. was approximately Latitude None, Longitude—Six, Months at Victoria Gaol.

A fool usually brags that he's a self-made man.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

"Tarzan, the Ape Man," Edgar Rice Burroughs', widely-read African adventure novel, has been brought to the screen under the direction of W. S. Van Dyke of "Trader Horn" fame, and will be screened at the Queen's Theatre from tomorrow. Because the hero of this story is a white man who lives like the apes in the tree-tops, making his way by swinging through them from limb to limb, difficulty was encountered in finding someone of sufficient athletic prowess to fill the exacting role. The problem was solved when Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer and one of the finest examples of masculine physique, was cast as Tarzan. Neil Hamilton and C. Aubrey Smith, as leaders of an English safari seeking ivory wealth, Maureen O'Sullivan as Smith's daughter, Doris Lloyd, Forrester Harvey and Ivory Williams fill the remaining principal roles.

Jungle thrills outdoing even those of the sensational "Trader Horn" are promised in the daring trek of the safari through the wilds of Africa in search of the curious "Elephant's Burial Ground" in the course of which the adventurers meet with terrifying obstacles. The wife of the white man is saved against those of beasts and savage pygmies with the primitive winning out in the end, while screen romance of a new order is entailed in the curious love affair of the Ape Man and English girl.

Settings of tremendous magnitude were required in giving the picture the authentic backgrounds of the original locales. Laid in the African region around Lake Albert and the Mountains of the Moon where herds of giant apes are found. Hundreds of savage jungle beasts were used in the production for the filming of some of the most unusual animal scenes ever photographed.

London Life in Society Film.

Technical experts have many tasks in modern talking pictures. In "But the Flesh Is Weak," Robert Montgomery's new starring picture now showing at the Queen's Theatre, these tasks ranged all the way from finding an expert on European gambling to English manners and full-course dinners. The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture is a film version of Ivor Novello's famous stage play, "The Truth Game," a sensation in London and New York. In one scene, London Society is shown in a fashionable casino, and "Russian bank" is played. One of the elaborate sequences in a great formal dinner given by Frederick Kerr in the role of a British duke. Technical experts reproduced such a dinner from one actually given in London. Interior of famous British estates, the Ascot races, and other highly specialized "local colour" are in the new production, which Jack Conway directed.

Montgomery, as the debonair Max, playboy and fortune hunter, is surrounded by a specially interesting cast in the new picture. Nils Asther, famous Swedish screen hero, who retired temporarily from the screen to master English when the talking pictures came in, returns in the role of Prince Paul. Nora Gregor, former Max Reinhardt stage star in Vienna, and Heather Thatcher, famous London stage star, C. Aubrey Smith, Edward Everett Horton, Frederick Kerr and others are among the players. Comedy, colour with a love story running through it, and an interesting glimpse of the "insider" of London life mark the new picture.

"The Strange Case of Clara Deane." Three hundred and forty-six children are regularly employed by Hollywood film studios. Motion pictures would be seriously handicapped without their services. They have contributed outstanding entertainment to the screen in such pictures as "Skippy," "Sookey" and "Huckleberry Finn" and they are important factors in hundreds of films which in many cases could not be made without them.

Those facts were disclosed recently by Louis Casner, pioneer film director who, with Max Marcin, codirected Paramount's "The Strange Case of Clara Deane" which will be shown to-morrow at the King's Theatre. Casner points out this production as one which could not be made without the services of trained child artists. Thirty-three girls, ranging in age from two to eleven years, appear in the picture. Two of them have important parts and one, Cora Sue Collins, four-year-old starlet, is featured prominently in many scenes with Wynne Gibson, Pat O'Brien and Digges.

Whoever says that the vogue, if it can be called that, for Western pictures on the screen is passed will have to alter his opinion when he sees "Caught," Paramount's splendid talkie based on the life and adventures of Calamity Jane, at the Oriental Theatre. "Caught" has caught the intense interest of every beholder with its fascinating characterizations and its stirring plot. Richard Arlen, who is a lieutenant of a cavalry detachment sent out to police the mining and cattle towns of the 80's where boom conditions have brought their attendant disorder and outlaws, Louise Dresser, that grand actress, is seen as Calamity, the stage-smoking sort of bad men, the proprietress of the combination dance-and-gambling hall, and the leader of the vicious band of cattle rustlers who terrorize the community. Edward Sloman, the director, has made a thrill-packed document in celluloid from this great, red-blooded story.

FATAL LANDSLIDE AT WEST POINT.

P.W.D. OFFICIAL DEPOSES TO INSPECTOR

The recent fatal fall of earth at West Point was further investigated at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when the inquest on Tsang Tack-hoi, a 15-year-old schoolboy, who was killed, was continued.

Tsang Sin, the mother of the lad, and mistress of a brothel at No. 12, Yat Fu Lane, said that on the Sunday afternoon in question she was out worshipping at a near-by hillside shrine, leaving her young son at their home at No. 13, Yat Fu Lane, at his books, and her husband on a sick bed.

On her return, the inmates informed her that there had been a collapse and that her son was missing. She saw her husband being taken away to Hospital in an ambulance.

Lam Fui, who described himself as a goldsmith, living at No. 13, said he saw the boy run out on the first signs of danger to warn his mother in the brothel next door. The boy had disappeared within the doorway when the earth came down and blocked up that end of the lane. He himself retreated within the kitchen, together with other inmates, and escaped through a window.

Paid Scant Attention.

Pat Sam, an amah employed in the brothel at No. 12, claimed to have seen the last of the lad as he came into the kitchen and said that the landslide was coming down. She paid scant notice, telling him to "go out first as I have to boil tea," and the next instant came into immediate contact with danger as earth fell and blocked up the doorway of the kitchen.

"I escaped through the window of the kitchen," witness said, "and sought for the boy immediately after I had got outside, but could not find him."

Mr. L. E. Longbottom, of the Public Works Department, produced plans of the site. He said that No. 12 was built in two portions, a rectangular and a triangular portion. Information was received that the body of the lad was in the triangular portion, and by mid-day of the following day, sufficient shoring was put up to enable the earth to be removed.

The body was recovered in the triangular portion, to which access was obtained from within the rectangular part.

A Previous Fall.

Referring to Departmental records, witness found that the last inspection of the hillside was made only two days prior to the mishap, this being as the result of a fall of earth which occurred in July at the back of No. 574, Queen's Road West. On that previous occasion, the Assistant Director of Public Works got into communication with the Headquarters of the China Military Command, within whose property was located the starting point of the slide.

At that inspection, witness was accompanied by Colonel Maraden, R. E. The inspection started from No. 574 and was carried out along the whole top of the hillside, the result being that they had no apprehension of any further fall then. The spot overlooking Yat Fu Lane was also included, and considered not to be in any immediate danger. The hillside above Yat Fu Lane was a natural slope of earth and stones, and it was in the records that three years before, in 1929, some small boulders had been removed, the work showing that after this was done the hillside was in a fairly satisfactory condition.

History Repeated.

Going further back, to 1927, it was also in the records that in that year a boulder became dislodged and crashed into the rear of No. 17 Yat Fu Lane. That probably was an isolated boulder and no further action was taken.

The houses in Yat Fu Lane were 40 years old. They would probably last for another ten years, but were in a very old condition, and three had been actually rebuilt.

"Under our present laws," said witness, "we should not allow houses to be built within such close proximity to the hillside."

Further questions by Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg, Assistant Crown Solicitor (appearing for the Military authorities), elicited the fact that some of the houses in the lane were built practically flush against the hillside, and in some cases actually formed retaining walls to a height, at one point, of ten feet.

Witness agreed that the conclusion was made absolute that the individual who originally formed the site for those houses, had cut into the toe of the hill.

Nobody to Blame.

After the Coroner had summed up the evidence, the jury (comprising Messrs. E. Docherty, foreman, P. M. Jack and Shuk-chuen), returned a verdict of "Death by Misadventure."

They added the following rider: "We consider that all precautions were taken previous to the slip, and that it was unforeseen. We consider no-one is to blame."

A number of localities outside the town are reputed to be malarious and these are being investigated.

Tuberculosis.

Pulmonary tuberculosis ranks second to broncho-pneumonia as the principal cause of death. The total number of deaths was 1,983, that for 1930 being 1,994. The death rate per mille was 2.60 as compared with 2.62 for the previous year. Pulmonary tuberculosis in the majority of cases is a chronic and debilitating disease which unites the individual for the active exercise of his employment months or even years previous to his death. It is, therefore, most probable that the death figures form an incomplete index of the prevalence of the disease in the Colony as many, who would have died here had they remained, returned to their native villages in China there to end their lives among their friends and relatives.

It is estimated that for every death there are at least ten persons suffering from open tuberculosis. As it is the habit among the lower classes of Chinese to expectorate freely without taking precautions, this means that there were in the Colony during the year under discussion 20,000 living incubators of disease each adding his daily quota of microbes to the stock already existing. When it is realized that tuberculosis is more infectious and more deadly than leprosy the dangers of spread of infection become obvious.

Diphtheria.

The distribution of cases of diphtheria coincided with the distribution of milk supply of a certain dairy. The staff employed were examined and eight carriers of Klebs-Loeffler Bacillus were discovered out of a total of 146.

Examination of the employees in other dairies in the Colony did not reveal the presence of any carriers. The authorities of the dairy concerned took prompt action to pasteurize at 165°F. all milk distributed by them and the epidemic quickly subsided.

Births and Deaths.

Births registered as having taken place in the Colony during the year were: Chinese 12,005 and non-Chinese 388, a total of 12,443.

Deaths registered among the civilian population were 18,707 giving a death rate of 24.08 per mille as compared with 23.37 per mille the previous year. Deaths among Chinese totalled 18,565 and among non-Chinese 231.

The number of deaths of infants under one year were Chinese 7,441; Non-Chinese 24. If the figures for the Chinese births registered represented the total births, which they do not, the infant mortality rate for this race would be 617.42 as compared with 567.5 in the previous year. The mortality rate among the non-Chinese was 61.85 as compared with 74.0 for 1930.

Dumping of the Dead.

In spite of the fact that there was no epidemic during all but the last few days of the year the practice of dumping bodies continued. The number reported by the Police was 1,235 the number for 1930 being 1,816.

The Europeans and Americans resident in the Colony were 7,000 of which 6,925 were British. The majority of Europeans and Americans are treated by private practitioners when ill and figures are not available for calculating incidence rates. There were 84 deaths among the 7,000 giving a death rate of 12 per mille.

AIR LINER COMES DOWN IN SANDSTORM

Bagdad, Sept. 20. Flying into a sandstorm in the middle of the desert, 80 miles east of Rutbah, a huge French Farman air-liner, was completely wrecked to-day.

All the passengers, who were on their way to Cochinchina, and the liner's crew are reported safe.—Reuter.

Tired?
Here's some "4711"!

When office work gets tedious, "4711" will prove its outstanding value to combat mental and physical fatigue. Some "4711"—this excellent and genuine Eau de Cologne—dabbed on temples and forehead, revives and invigorates on the hottest day. Inhale its refreshing aroma, add it liberally to the water in bath and wash basin, use it as an after-shaving lotion too—daily.

"4711" Eau de Cologne and its allied toilettes are easily recognized by the numeral "4711" on their Blue and Gold Label.

Dan Phillips bowed low. "Your parting words," he said smoothly, "I'll remember them."

In the serving pantry the maid stood close to the door, listening with swiftly beating heart. Yvonne's blue eyes were wide circles. Such quarrelling! She had never heard anything like this at Miss Vail's before. And Mr. Phillips! The last time she had seen those two together—

Yvonne suddenly became erect. The bell in the entrance was ringing. It was her duty to answer that bell. Yvonne touched the organdie ruffles of her cap, glanced into the small mirror and saw that her appearance was correct.

This must be the guest Miss Vail had made such preparations for. He was certainly coming at an ill-chosen time.

The maid entered the living room. Brenda and Dan stood there

ALL RELEASE EFFORTS
BEING MADE

London, Sept. 20.

Reuters have been informed here that all possible endeavours are being made by the British authorities in China to secure the release of Mrs. Muriel Pawley and Mr. Charles Corkran, the Mukden residents who were captured by bandits while riding on the Mukden racecourse two weeks ago.

The British Consul at Newchwang is working under the superintendence of the Consul-General at Mukden. All the British officials concerned are working in the closest possible touch with all the authorities concerned to obtain their release.

The peril of Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Corkran is emphasized by the bandits' ultimatum which is told in flaming headlines and has aroused

Brenda drew herself up sharply. "Yes, Yvonne, of course. Go to the door at once."

CHINESE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

AMALGAMATION OF TWO BODIES DECIDED

In Hongkong there will no longer be two associations for Chinese medical practitioners—the Chinese Medical Association Hongkong Branch (formerly known as the National Medical Association of China Hongkong Branch) and the Hongkong Chinese Medical Association. On account of the recent amalgamation in Shanghai of the China Medical and National Medical Associations of China, as a united body called the Chinese Medical Association, now the only official organization of scientific medicine in China, the Chinese medical practitioners in this Colony have formed the Hongkong Chinese Medical Association as a branch of the central one in Shanghai.

This decision was approved by a joint general meeting of the two associations held on Friday last.
At that meeting, the following were elected office bearers.—President, Dr. K. C. Yeo; Vice-President, Dr. Chau Wai-chung;
Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. K. Y.
Lai; and eight Council members consisting of Drs. S. Wah Phoon, S. F. Li, F. I. Tsung, T. C. Wong,
Arthur W. Woo, Y. S. Wan, S. C.
Chan and T. Y. Li.

Shanghai Conference.

At the first conference of the Chinese Medical Association held at Shanghai it is learned that certain delegates were appointed to represent the local branch. The delegation will consist of Dr. K.
C. Yeo, Dr. Chau Wai-chung,
Professor W. I. Gerrard, Dr. M. H.
Hoehling, and Drs. F. I. Tsung,
Arthur W. Woo, S. F. Li, T. C.
Wong and K. K. Wong. These delegates have been authorised to convey certain resolutions from the local branch to the Central association for consideration at a coming general conference.

The delegates will sail for Shanghai on Friday by the Empress of Canada.

The visit of such a large Hongkong delegation to the general conference which is held once every two years sets a precedent, as on previous occasions only two delegates used to represent the Hongkong interests. The visit to Hongkong some time ago of Dr.
W. S. New, the first President of the amalgamated Shanghai associations was partly responsible

LOCAL WEDDING.

MR. J. F. SHEA MARRIED TO MISS GERTRUDE CHAN

A pretty wedding was solemnised at St. John's Cathedral yesterday afternoon, when Mr. John Frederick Shea, son of the late
Mr. P. S. Shea, was married to Miss Gertrude Allison Chan, the youngest daughter of the late Mr.
Chan Kai-ming, of Hongkong.
The bridegroom is the General Manager and Secretary of Wallace
Harper and Co. The Rev. L. N.
Watkins officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by a large gathering. The bridesmaids were Miss Stella Ho and Miss Helen Ho, and there were two flower-girls,
Miss Pamela Ho and Miss Margaret Moraes. The bride was also attended by a page, Master Eric Ho.

The bride wore a magnificent ivory silk lace, and not gown, by "Eunice". From her head, wreathed by tiny orange-blossoms, fell a beautiful veil, edged and worked with floral embroidery, which was daintily held by Master Eric Ho, wearing a page suit of ivory satin.
The bride carried a sheath of lilies and Honolulu creper.

Pastel shades of eau de nil, rose du Barry, palest blue, and dainty rose, were chosen for her bridesmaids and flower girls. The dresses worn by the Bridesmaids were of special design—partly Western, yet retaining traditional simplicity. Each bridesmaid carried a sheath of gladioli to tone with her dress.

The diminutive flower-girls wore early Victorian dresses of net and georgette trimmed with forget-me-nots and rose-buds. Wreaths of these tiny flowers were worn, and each flower-girl carried a basket of blossoms which were strewn in the path of the happy couple as

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Kenneth Chan, whilst Mr. William A. Shea, the brother of the groom, was best-man.

A reception was afterwards held at the bride's family residence, 89, Conduit Road, and about five hundred guests were present. The happy couple are proceeding to Japan for the honeymoon.

ANOTHER VICTIM FOR HARBOUR.

GOVERNMENT DIVER'S SUDDEN DEATH

The Harbour claimed another victim late yesterday afternoon when a Government diver named W. R. Stevens met his death under mysterious circumstances.

Stevens was working on the Harbour pipe line and when hailed to the surface was found to be in a critical condition.

The ambulance was called and he was rushed to the Government Civil Hospital, but he died before he was admitted.

A post mortem was held but the results were not disclosed.
Certain portions of the anatomy have been forwarded to the Government Analyst for examination.
It is understood that Stevens, who had considerable experience of diving in Australia, was certified as medically fit only a few weeks ago.

Little is known of the unfortunate man. Neither police nor hospital authorities were able to supply any details concerning him except that he arrived in the Colony from Amoy a short time ago.

The funeral will pass the Monument at 5 p.m. to-day.

TARIFF CRISIS IMMINENT IN BRITISH CABINET

Mr. Isaac Foot Breaks Liberal Silence on Ottawa Agreements

CHEQUERS' WEDDING

JOAN MACDONALD MARRIED

OMITS "OBEY" FROM SERVICE

London, Sept. 20.
Miss Joan MacDonald, the first Prime Minister's daughter to be married from Chequers, today became the bride of Dr. Alastair MacKinnon, at the neighbouring town of Wendover.

The wedding was witnessed by hundreds of distinguished men of letters and politicians who filled the little Congregational Chapel to overflowing.

The chapel was beautified by choice flowers from the gardens of Chequers.

AS A GLANCE.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter Joan, who is a doctor like her husband, were both cheered to the echo on their arrival at Wendover.

People paid as much as five pounds for standing room in the cottage gardens opposite the chapel.

The destination of the happy couple on their honeymoon has been kept a close secret.

Both the bride and bridegroom studied as doctors at the same University.

The Prime Minister gave his daughter away in the presence of a very large congregation, including several Cabinet Ministers and other famous men and women.

Largo crowds cheered the bride as a piper headed her car to the church. The reception ceremony was held at Chequers.—Reuter and British Wireless.

HANGMAN FOUND DEAD

THROAT CUT AT ROCHDALE

London, Sept. 20.
John Ellis, who had been the official hangman for the last twenty-three years, was found dead at his home in Rochdale today with his throat cut.

Ellis was fifty-eight years of age and had been in ill-health for some little time.

HEAVY FIGHTING NEAR HARBIN

REFUGEES POUR INTO THE CITY

Harbin, Sept. 21.
Refugees are pouring into Harbin from Antschan, where severe fighting is proceeding between Japanese and Manchukuo allies and the Chinese "Volunteers".

Over a thousand homeless refugees arrived today from Antschan and the surrounding districts.

They relate that the forces hostile to the Manchukuo Government have been compelled to retreat after stubborn fighting. They have been thrust back five miles from the Chinese Eastern Railway, having retreated to the north, but their retreat was not on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

RESIGNATIONS PROBABLE

BREAK-UP OF NATIONAL GOVERNMENT

LONDON, SEPT. 20.
A POLITICAL CRISIS IN BRITAIN IS BELIEVED TO BE IMMINENT. THERE IS NO FURTHER DOUBT REGARDING THE HOSTILITY OF THE LIBERAL MEMBERS OF THE CABINET TO THE OTTAWA AGREEMENTS, THOUGH NO OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS LIKELY TO BE MADE UNTIL AFTER THE CABINET MEETING NEXT WEEK.

It is more than likely that the meeting will be followed by the resignations of some of the Liberal Ministers, led by Sir Herbert Samuel, the Home Secretary, and speculation is rife regarding the next step of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald should this possibility eventuate.

The silence of the Liberal leaders of the National Government on their attitude to the Ottawa Agreements, particularly to the food tax proposals, was broken today by Mr. Isaac Foot, the Minister of Mines and Liberal M.P. for the Bodmin Division of Cornwall. He made it quite clear that a decision has already been reached regarding the steps to be taken, but refrained from anticipating Sir Herbert Samuel's statement.

Mr. Isaac Foot contends that in accepting the Ottawa Agreements in their present form, the delegates departed from their character as representatives of a National Government, and points to the election manifesto issued by the Prime Minister in which he said "The Government is to be comprehensively national and not sectional in the obligations which it is to keep before it."

CONSUMERS' LEAGUE IN OPPOSITION

Speaking in North Cardigan today, before a large audience, Mr. Isaac Foot said that the Ottawa proposals represent a partisan, not a national policy.

"Not only is that true," he said, "but they are definitely contrary to the permanent interests of the nation."

FREE TRADERS.

"We Liberals," he declared, "are therefore bound to oppose the proposed steps for giving effect to the Ottawa agreements. We entered the National Government as Liberals and as Free Traders. We remain Liberals and Free Traders."

Mr. Foot went on to attack the method by which the agreements were reached and the manner in which certain guarantees were given.

"If the Ottawa proposals become law," he declared, "they will deprive Parliament of Budgetary independence."

"Sir Herbert Samuel will state, at the right time, the decision of the Parliamentary Liberal Party."

THE DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

CHIEF BRITISH DELEGATES LEAVE LONDON

London, Sept. 20.
The Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, and the First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Bolton Eyres-McMunn, left London this afternoon for Geneva to attend the disarmament conference.

THIEF SMARTLY CAUGHT

WITH $200 HAUL OF JEWELS

An audacious thief occurred at about nine o'clock last night at the Kwong Sang firm, dealers in curios and jewellery, in Ice House Street.

A young Chinese entered the shop and after some little time spent in examining the contents of a showcase, extracted a case containing some jade pieces and calmly walked out of the shop.

Recovering from his surprise, a fold gave chase and caught the thief before he had turned the corner into Chater Road.

A jade pendant and a pair of jade cuff-links, altogether valued at $200, were found intact in the case when this was recovered from the thief.

Top picture shows the five-span bridge at Wukingfu which has been destroyed in a flood disaster. The water rose to three feet above the bridge level. It was finished only six months ago, being built following the collapse of the bridge in the lower photograph, which gave way immediately the structural supports were removed.

SOVIET AND C.E.R.

MORE REMOVALS OF ROLLING-STOCK

THROUGH SERVICE RESUMED

Harbin, Sept. 21.

Consternation has been created among the employees of the Chinese Eastern Railway by the further removal of valuable rolling-stock, supplies and equipment by the Soviet Government.

The Russian newspapers contain details of large withdrawals into Soviet territory from the C.E.R. both from Manchuria and from Podgranitchnaya.

The development follows upon the re-establishment of the railway service between Manchuria and Harbin. The first train for Manchuria since the flood disaster left Harbin this morning with many passengers bound for Europe, who have been held up in Manchuria for some considerable time owing to the suspension of the service.

OLD RESIDENT PASSES

DEATH OF MR. J. P. CHRISTENSEN

We regret to have to record the death of Mr. J. P. Christensen, which occurred at five o'clock this morning at the residence of his son, Mr. E. Christensen, at No. 3, Kimberley Villas, Kowloon.

A native of Terndrup, Zealand, Denmark, where he was born in 1867, the late Mr. Christensen came out East in 1899, joining the Green Island Cement Company, Limited, and remaining in their service for a period of 33 years, being chief burner at the Hok On Works at the time of his demise.

He was due to go home on retirement in November, but had been in ill health lately, and death occurred this morning from heart failure during a visit to his son.

An efficient worker, he was held in high regard by the Company, and the many friends he had made during his long sojourn in the Colony will mourn the loss occasioned by his death.

The deceased is survived by three sons and two daughters. One of the sons, Mr. E. Christensen, is in the Colony.

PAWLEY-CORKRAN OUTRAGE

'Daily Mail' Offers £10,000 Towards Cost of Release

London, Sept. 21.

The Daily Mail, in "hopes of stimulating the authorities to prompt and decisive steps" to save Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Charles Corkran, announces that it is willing to offer £10,000 towards the cost of bringing them to safety.

The sum, the journal declares, may either be paid as ransom or used to meet the cost of a rescue party, or applied in any other way which may be thought fit to secure their release.—Reuter.

SUNK BY SILVER DOLLARS

River Tragedy Near Swatow

LAUNCH MISHAP

(Our Own Correspondent).

Swatow, Sept. 19.

A river mishap attended with some loss of life has just occurred in this district.

A party of Chaochowfu business men had gone up-river to collect debts due to them at the Mid-Autumn Festival, and after the trip they hired a small launch to take them from Tsungkow to Chaochowfu. It appears that the launch, with about seventy men and a heavy cargo of silver dollars, was loaded beyond its capacity, and before it had gone more than a few miles it suddenly sank.

One account says the launch overbalanced and could not right itself; another that through being so heavily laden it struck a submerged rock.

ALARMING SUDDENNESS.

Whatever the precise cause, the craft sank with alarming suddenness, leaving its occupants a struggling, frenzied mass in the swift-running river.

By good fortune, another boat was following hard on the launch, and within a few minutes was risking its own safety in efforts to rescue the unfortunates. Most were saved; but ten or more were missing, presumed drowned. The others, lost between them, were not recovered.

DUKE OF YORK AT CEREMONY

THREE CHURCHES UNITE

London, Sept. 20.

The legal Act of Union of the three Methodist churches in Britain, took place this afternoon in the Albert Hall in the presence of a large congregation, which included the Duke of York, who represented the King and who was accompanied by the Duchess.

The Bishop of London and other Bishops, leaders of Non-Conformity at home and abroad, the Lord Mayor of London, Mr. Walter Runciman (President of the Board of Trade) several members of Parliament, Sir Josiah Stamp and other prominent Methodists were present.

Conferees of the Wesleyan Methodist, the Primitive Methodist and the United Methodist churches having given their separate and joint assent to the deed, Dr. Scott Lidgett, President of the Uniting Conference, declared the Union accomplished.

There are over one million adherents in Britain of the Methodist Church, which comprises about twelve million members.

The Duke of York read a message from the King congratulating the Uniting Churches:—"I welcome the Union as marking one step towards the unity of Christian people—a cause always near my heart."

The Duke of York said the Union marked the opening of a new era in the life of one of the greatest spiritual forces in the modern world. He regarded Methodism as a leading factor for world peace.—British Wireless.

CHEMICAL WORKS FIRE

EMPLOYEE SENT TO HOSPITAL

At 4.15 p.m. yesterday, a fire broke out in the Paramount Chemical Works, at No. 581, Canton Road.

It is stated that a dispensing chemist was experimenting with some disinfecting fluid, and a resin and creosote compound was being heated over a spirit stove when it overflowed and came into contact with the light of the stove, and started a fire. Employees on the premises succeeded in beating out the flames.

OTHER STEAMERS LAID OFF

SEAMEN PRESENT THREE DEMANDS

Following the strike of the Chinese crews of the steamers Sai On and Charles Hardouin, which are laid up in the Canton River, the Tung On S.S. Company, owners of the vessels, have decided to suspend the services of their two other Canton-Hongkong steamers, the Tung On and Paul Beau, which are now in Hongkong.

The management of the Tung On Company told a representative of the Telegraph this morning that an important official of the Company left for Canton yesterday afternoon by train to negotiate with the strikers and no effort will be spared to terminate the dispute. The suspension of the Tung On and Paul Beau is a precaution to prevent the crews from joining the strikers in Canton.

BACKGROUND OF DISPUTE.

Trouble with the Canton Seamen's Guild and certain grievances by the seamen over the company's recent dismissals form the background of the strike.

The Tung On Company also owns the s.s. Hang Cheong and Sing Cheong, Canton-Macau steamers, which have so far not been affected.

The Tung On Company states that the situation will not be clarified until the return from Canton of their representatives, but there is reason to believe that Canton Government officials and the British Consulate at Shameen will immediately make an endeavour to settle the strike.

REPORT DENIED.

Questioned by our representative regarding the report that the Company is demanding that all its Chinese crews shall pay a certain deposit as a guarantee against smuggling, the Tung On officials said that the question of deposits was raised some time ago, but it had never been enforced. It is understood that the strike does not affect the compradore department.

GUILD'S DEMANDS.

The Canton Seamen's Guild, it is understood from Canton messages, has presented the following demands to the Tung On Company: (1) Dismissal of the existing Chinese inspectors on board the two vessels, (2) increase of wages and (3) reinstatement of the dismissed members of the crew or alternatively that the Guild secure new workers to take their places.

LULL IN SHANTUNG FIGHTING

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS IN PROGRESS

Chaofo, Sept. 21.

The situation is much quieter and it is the general belief here that the lull will continue pending the outcome of the present negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the dispute between General Han Fu-chu and General Liu Chen-nien. No clash in the Linyang area is yet reported.—Reuter.

NO TYPHOON YET

The Royal Observatory reports that the anticyclone has weakened and moved eastward. It now covers S.E. Manchuria and the Sea of Japan. A trough of relatively low pressure extends from Indo-China, across the China Sea, to the Pacific to the east of Luzon; a definite centre is not yet indicated. Local forecast: N.E. winds; moderate; cloudy.

The Hongkong Stock Exchange reports that this being a business day only, there was no trading in shares. There was, however, a large volume of trading in futures.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By W. E. McKenney

A very neat end play gets the maximum out of the following hand.

♠A-Q-10	♥5-4	♦A-K-Q-10-7	♣A-J-6
♠9-8-4-3-2	♥A-J-9-7-2	♦J	♣8-5
NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH Dealer
♠K-J-7	♥10	♦9-8-6-2	♣K-9-7-4-3
♠6-5	♥K-Q-8-6-3	♦5-4-3	♣Q-10-2

The Bidding

Neither side were vulnerable. South passed, West passed and North bid one diamond. East passed and South bid one heart. West passed and North went to three No Trump which bought the contract.

You will notice that the expert does not allow honours to jeopardize his chances for game. The great majority of hands that produce five odd in a minor suit will more easily produce three odd at No Trump for a better score.

The Play

East opened his fourth best club—the four spot—which was won in dummy with the 10 spot. A small spade was returned from dummy and North finessed the 10 spot which was won by East with the jack. Rather than lead to the declarer's ace jack of clubs, East shifted and led his singleton 10 of hearts, dummy played the queen and West won the trick with the ace, returning the eight of clubs. The declarer went up with the ace, playing the deuce from dummy. Five diamond tricks were then run off by North, the declarer, two small hearts being discarded from dummy and East was forced to discard the three of clubs on the fifth diamond lead.

In order to get a sure count on the East hand, North now led the five of hearts from his own hand, East showed out discarding another club, which brought him down to the bare king. This left nothing but the king of clubs and spades in the East hand, and therefore the declarer led the queen of clubs from dummy, throwing East in the lead, and East was now forced to lead a spade into the declarer's ace queen.

This play gave North and his partner five odd at No Trump for top score on the board.

LYTTON REPORT

DISTRIBUTION EXPECTED ON OCTOBER 10

Geneva, Sept. 20. Every effort is being made to prevent a leakage in the Lytton Report. Except for printing, the report and translation are quite ready in French and English. Press summaries have been prepared. Printing will occupy a fortnight and it is expected that the report will be distributed on October 9 or 10 to all members of the League.

The report will be submitted to the Council which will not discuss it in deference to the Japanese Government's request for a delay of six weeks to enable the Japanese Government to examine the recommendations and send a special delegate to Geneva with full instructions.

It is felt here that the Japanese request is reasonable. The special assembly for discussing the report will probably meet on November 21 and will remain in session for a fortnight.—Reuter.

DANGERS

TUBERCULOSIS

The annual report of the Director of Medical and Sanitary Services for 1931 is one of the most exhaustive documents of its kind ever published in the Colony. In it Dr. A. R. Wellington deals with every possible phase of the health and sanitary systems.

Speaking of housing conditions Dr. Wellington says that year by year the population continues to increase, immigration being accelerated by the unrest in China. There being little room to build further accommodation newcomers have to squeeze into already overcrowded accommodation. Year by year the Sanitary Department and the Building Authority have made efforts to improve the situation, but the task, almost superhuman in itself, is rendered more difficult by poverty of water and by opposition put forward both by property owners and tenants. It goes without saying that the maintenance of a satisfactory standard of sanitation under such conditions is a most difficult problem and one which cannot be solved without the willing co-operation of the people, he comments, adding:

One thing is certain, so long as buildings are overcrowded and insanitary, no amount of external sanitation will give immunity from disease.

Traditional Beliefs.

Regarding the traditional beliefs of the Chinese and their effect on the health problem of the Colony, Dr. Wellington says:

The traditional beliefs of the uneducated Chinese as to the cause of disease, the means of spread and the factors which affect its course are so at variance with modern teaching, that there is little chance of promoting voluntary co-operation between them and the authorities in the matter of the prevention and control of disease until they can be brought to understand the true nature of the problems and are conscious of the usefulness of the measures advocated.

The proximity of China and the constant intercourse makes it harder to overcome prejudices than is the case in countries further afield. The greatest hope lies in propaganda and education. However leaders of opinion in China and leaders of Chinese thought in Hongkong are making vigorous efforts to promote public health and public welfare along lines which proved successful in the Occident, and the outlook is far more hopeful than was the case a few years ago when Chinese thought on matters of health was unduly swayed by old traditions and theories.

The Population.

Under general remarks on public health Dr. Wellington deals with many other subjects, first reviewing the census, concerning which he says:

One of the most important events of the year from the public health point of view was the Census which was taken on March 7. According to the Census figures the population of the City of Victoria was over-estimated in 1930 by something like 40 per cent and that of Kowloon and New Kowloon by 20 per cent. The floating population as counted numbered only 75,250 as compared with an estimate made for the middle of 1930 of 109,050.

The population having been over-estimated in recent years it follows that real death rates for the Colony were considerably higher than those published in the Annual Reports and that the state of the Public Health was not so good as had been supposed. The crude death rate for 1930 was not 16.14 per mille as published but 21.38 per mille and the death rate for the various diseases were higher in proportion.

In the absence of some general system of registration of sickness the only sources of information available for gauging the state of the public health in this country are the returns relating to deaths, the notifications of infectious diseases and the records of the above mentioned hospitals.

Death Records.

The number of deaths recorded in Hongkong indicates very correctly the deaths which have taken place in the Colony proper and in that portion of the New Territories known as New Kowloon. In the remaining

MR. R. K. DUNCAN EULOGISED

FOOTBALLERS' PAY TRIBUTE

Members of the Hongkong Football Association paid tribute to the practical interest displayed by Mr. R. K. Duncan in local soccer when a dinner was held in his honour at St. Francis Hotel last evening, and a presentation made to him on his impending departure from the Colony.

Mr. C. M. Manners presided, a large number of members being present. The Chairman said: Mr. Duncan had been intimately connected with Association football in Hongkong since his arrival 18 years ago, having acted in various capacities with the premier football club of the Colony. It was not until 1929 that he joined the Council and since that time he had worked very hard in the interests of football in the Colony. He was chairman of the Emergency Committee for three years. Troublesome times were encountered during his term on the council and last year Mr. Duncan was chairman of the Committee appointed to settle the dispute. He was appointed chairman of the Council this year but unfortunately for the Council, he was not able to take up the chairmanship owing to his pending departure.

May be Returning. The chairman understood that Mr. Duncan was leaving in the middle of October and he (the speaker) had a feeling that he would be returning to the Colony again.

Continuing, the chairman said he himself had been associated with the Association for a very short time but during that time he had always heard the name of Mr. Duncan. He knew Mr. Duncan was a fighter but he also knew that he had done quite a lot for association football in Hongkong and the Council of the Association expressed very great regret that he was unable to continue on the Council. As a mark of their appreciation and to commemorate the work he had done for soccer they had decided that they should give Mr. Duncan some token for him to take home and put on the mantle piece to remind him of their friendliness and thoughtfulness for everything he had done for them.

In expressing the hope that Mr. Duncan would be successful in all his undertakings, the chairman remarked that the name of Mr. Duncan would always be remembered in Hongkong. Mr. G. T. Moy and Mr. Mok Jling (on behalf of the Chinese footballers) also paid tributes to the sportsmanship and splendid work of Mr. Duncan, who suitably replied.

Mr. Duncan said that now the disputes of the last two or three years had been cleared up, and the sun was shining again and the clouds had gone, soccer players should get together. He sincerely hoped there would be better understanding in the future. If the different clubs and associations could pull together and do their utmost in the interests of soccer, he had no doubt that soccer in the Colony would go from strength to strength.

RELIABILITY TRIAL

Closing Date for Entries Next Saturday.

CONDITIONS ANNOUNCED.

Next Saturday is the closing date for entries for the forthcoming motor cycle reliability trial which is to be held on Sunday October 9 next, commencing at midnight on October 8-9. Conditions have been issued and entry forms may be obtained from Mr. H. G. Williams of Messrs. Dodwell & Co. Ltd. (Wine & Spirit Department). The entry fee for each competitor is $3 and an additional $3 for teams of three. Members of teams must also compete as individuals.

The Rules. The Trial is open to all licensed motor-cyclists in the Colony (only Solo motor cycles are allowed to enter). The Committee reserves the right to refuse any entry for any reason it may deem sufficient. The Committee also reserves the right to postpone or abandon the Trial and to change the course without previous warning for any cause that may arise.

Competitors must accept the ruling of the Stewards, Marshals, Observers and all other officials of the Trial. The Committee reserves the right to disqualify any competitor either before or during the Trial. The Committee will not be responsible for any accident or damage whatsoever or for any injury suffered by those competing in the Trial. A Police conviction or complaint for any infringement of Traffic regulations may disqualify a competitor from the Trial.

Each competitor will be issued with a route card before the start of the Trial. In the event of any variation from the given route the competitor must return to the point of deviation. Failure to do so will render the competitor liable to penalization. Number plates will be issued to each competitor and a deposit of $1.00 (one dollar) must be paid for these with the entrance fee. The deposit will be returned when the plates are handed in. These number plates must be securely fixed, one facing forward on the front of the machine, the other facing to the rear on the back of the machine. Should these plates become detached during the Trial they must be refixed at once.

This Rule will be strictly enforced. A competitor is not allowed to make any adjustments or repairs to his machine during his stay at any check. He can only fill up with oil and petrol. Three competitors may enter as a team irrespective of the make or horsepower of their machines. Competitors' machines will be required to pass a Police Brake Test immediately prior to the commencement of the Trial.

America produces some wonderful things and in that country I have noticed a remarkable keenness shown in school musical competitions where the candidates have to travel sometimes hundreds of miles to compete. This is very encouraging and it was magnificent and refreshing to see. That is the other side of America—the real side that they do not advertise. I am afraid the things they foist on us are really a libel on the American people. It makes me think we should have a censor of music. Why not? We have a censor of plays. More bad music is served out to the public to-day than at any other period of history. As a consequence the public taste has never been so utterly depraved. A strong word, but not strong enough. This is not an attempt at being highbrow—there is plenty of good, light music available.

This bad music must have a deplorable effect on children's taste, and when we remember that this sort of thing is the daily fare offered to thousands of listeners, it gives us plenty of serious thought. It behoves us as teachers to wage war upon all this vulgarising influence. I envy the cultured amateur and sometimes lament the fact that music had been made a profession or business. It is a pity it could not remain a sort of priesthood. There is no need for these purveyors of music to starve the soul so completely in their endeavour to feed the body. The speaker was thanked by Rotarian R. T. Barrett for his address. Dr. S. W. Tso presided.

LOCAL SCHOOL OF MUSIC

SUGGESTION PUT FORWARD BY DR. MISTOWSKI

CINEMA MELODIES

"Why should there not be a musical school in Hongkong? I do not see why there should not be. There are enough cultured and well-to-do people who take an interest in music in the Colony. I think it would be a good thing if there could be some central place where music students could prepare and where there would be a musical atmosphere and some standard held up to them. I am sure it would be self-supporting and needs only the initiative on the part of some of the citizens to help in the scheme. You have excellent material here. I discovered quite a musical temperament amongst the Chinese boys and girls here."

The above remarks were made in the course of the address by Dr. Alfred Mistowski to members of the Rotary Club at the weekly tiffin at Messrs. Lane Crawford's restaurant yesterday, when he dealt with his reminiscences of travel in foreign countries.

In the course of his address, Dr. Mistowski said music made its own appeal to each one of us according to our individual temperament, and a man who thinks himself indifferent to music is surprised when a dormant chord is struck which makes him react in a peculiar manner. "Some of us will be roused to action by music, some to tenderness," he said. "The most universal appeal is to action, hence the popularity of the dance. The purveyors of music see to it that there shall be music for every type of man—good, bad, and indifferent and even vulgar. Of the latter we have more than our share and more than we deserve. It is well-known that those who play down to their audience often play lower than they need. That is found in the cinema programmes. The treatment of music in the cinemas is very morbid and this applies more to the noise that is served out with it—that canned stuff that America exports in such a quantity."

THE SCOTT CENTENARY

Hongkong Scotsmen do well tonight to honour the memory of Sir Walter Scott, the great novelist, historian and poet, the centenary of whose death is being observed in all parts of the world to-day. It has been said of Scott that he exalted and purified the novel and made the name of Scotland known throughout the world. Prior to his advent, Scottish history was virtually an unwritten mine; the Waverley novels changed all that. What is more, by his erudition, his unconventional manner of writing, and his total freedom from the academic point of view, he exercised a vast influence on the intellectual life of his country. In character, courageous, generous and genial, he made a deep impression on those who enjoyed his friendship. Of his works, it is sufficient to say that they have won him lasting and worldwide fame.

The centenary is being marked by the publication of a wealth of Scott literature which is sure to find a wide and ready market. Amongst these may be mentioned a "Fagant" in which the best passages from Scott's novels will appear in an anthology selected by Mr. Hugh Walpole. Then there is a further selection from Scott's Letter Books, which Mr. Walpole has enabled Mr. Wilfrid Partington to produce. It is entitled "Sir Walter's Post Bag," and it includes those letters which were omitted from the earlier volume, "The Private Letter Books of Sir Walter Scott." In passing, it may be noticed that Mr. Walpole intends to bequeath this his acquisition to the National Library of Scotland—a gesture which is most welcome, seeing that the letters are of surpassing interest and value. The publication of these new letters has raised some interesting comment.

snobs myself, so long as they are not rude to their dependants." "Scott," he hastens to explain, "was kind to his dependants. He was the nicest sort of snob: the civil sort. He was sympathetic to the failings of others. He was loyal to a degree. He was modest, humorous and wise." We will pass over these words and proceed to take note that Mr. Partington's work has served to recall the tremendous number of letters with which Scott was called upon to deal. Day after day, it is shown, heavy bags of mail would be dumped at Abbotsford, costing the recipient some £150 a year in postal fees. Yet, we are told, Scott was always kindly in such matters, treating the importunate with amazing friendliness. By the thirtieth letter book, Sir Walter's post bag became a thing of terror: "it bores," as Mr. Partington aptly remarks, "become more boring, its boggy more brazen, its toadies tondier."

What is to be learned, from these letters, of the character of Sir Walter Scott? To quote the reviewer, "It is clear, in the first place, that serious people trusted him with their most intimate confidences. It is clear also that men and women of distinction realised that behind his vanity there existed a core of dignity, pride, and excellent sense. It is clear that this 'darling of the public' could flout the public whenever, as in the Byron scandal, loyalty was involved. It is clear also that he was politely bored by the adulation offered. M. Charles Nodier, no inconsiderable figure, sent him some adulatory verses. Scott docketed this effusion as follows:—'French elege. Moonshine in water. Three blue beans in a blue bladder.' Contrast this sort of sense with the hysterical complacency of a Victor Hugo. There is no comparison. Scott, as a character, emerges at his centenary virile and supreme."

Old England Disappearing.

The battle in England between mellow old beauty and insistent modern utility has recently found quite a number of lovely avenues, old cottages and quaint villages in the front line. Mr. Justice Eve, a distinguished London High Court judge, says of the new traffic ways: "I regard those long black streaks of roads that traverse mile after mile of the country with nothing short of horror." Progress, the motor-car, the charabancs and the packing of 75 per cent. of the English people into towns, shout, "We must get about quickly! Out of the way with these old hindrances!" Thus are beauty spots butchered to make an omnibus holiday. Desecration of rural scenery in recent years has called into being a Roads Beautifying Association which is striving to endow highways with something of the beauty of old English roads and lanes. In one or more of the English housing laws in which compulsion was used against reluctant landholders, Parliament inserted a clause saying that "regard should be had to the amenities of the neighbourhood." So with roads and other "improvements" and "developments." The bludgeon should be used sparingly by those engaged in carving England for the new speed. England is in a peculiar position in this matter. She is small. There is the story of "the American visitor," who is said to have remarked, "In England I'm afraid to go for a walk before breakfast for fear of falling off the island." It is not so small as that. But the more of her rustic charm she loses, the less she has. And the carvers of England for the new speed might well remember that the country of Sulgrave Manor and Boston, Lincolnshire, and Stratford-on-Avon cannot afford the loss of her quiet countryside. The more turbulent the sparking plugs of progress, the greater the value of the leafy peace that is England.

In connexion with the redecoration of the King's Restaurant dining-room and dance hall, which has won much favourable comment, it may be noted that the curtains and palms of modern design artificial silk in shades of gold, orange, green and blue, and the chandeliers of the new design.

Fr. L. Banchio, of the local Italian Mission, left for Naples on the Hakone Maru on Saturday. He has been invalided home on medical advice to enter a sanatorium for nervous disease and may be expected back in about a year.

A corpse recovered from the water near the Kowloon Godowns yesterday, has been identified as being that of Leung Ping-hang an unemployed seaman, of 20, Park Street, who committed suicide on Sunday by throwing himself from the ferry Man Wai.

It is requested that members of the public interested in the ceremony connected with the distribution of police medals by H.E. the Officer Administering the Government in the compound of the Central Police Station to-morrow, be in their places by 4.55 p.m.

During the week ended September 17, four cases of cholera, with three deaths, (two imported) were reported. Of the cholera cases, two were from Victoria and two from Kowloon. There were also three cases of typhoid, with one death, one case of diphtheria, and one death from meningitis. Deaths from pulmonary tuberculosis last week totalled forty-eight. On Monday there was a clean bill of health.

OFF THE GOOD MANNERS By DOUGLAS JERROLD STANDARD

EACH age faces life in a different manner. Looking backward over history we recall England adventurous under Elizabeth and timid under the first Stuarts; England puritan under Cromwell and broad under the Restoration; England drunk under the four Georges and sober under Victoria; England making a public display of virtue from 1850 to 1890, and making a public display of levity from 1890 to 1914.

But if the manner altered, sometimes for better and sometimes for worse, manners remained, to testify to the robust integrity of the social frame work and to a fundamental agreement about the fundamental loyalties.

To-day manners of any kind are out of fashion. We say what we think and not what society thinks we ought to think. We do what we like, and the more it displeases our friends the better pleased we are with ourselves.

Musical Comedy Test.

All generalisations are faulty, and this one perhaps no less so than the others. But the student of manners is particularly fortunate in one respect: he has one disinterested guide, one almost infallible, because impersonal, source of reference. Not his friends, not his acquaintances, not even his enemies, but those whose business it is to hold the mirror up to nature.

To study contemporary manners we go not to Mayfair or Belgraveia but to the theatres of Piccadilly-circus and Shaftesbury-avenue. The play's the thing. And a very strange thing it is too!

We must take our cue, of course, not from the theatre proper, which apes the manners of the epoch it is representing, but from the musical comedy and the farce. And what do we find?

All our old friends are gone. The innocent country girl with a voice of silver and a heart of gold; the impetuous Earl and his inseparable friend; the equally impetuous but slightly more intelligent younger son; the sinister company promoter with designs on the heroine's virtue; the stern father with the explosive temper; and the chorus of elegant young people ready to go off suitably gowned and tailored to Monte Carlo or Equatorial Africa at a moment's notice—all these and a host of others are but so many supers in that legion of ghosts which wanders so insistently, perhaps too insistently, through this strange modern world.

No Man's Land.

With their corporeal presence has gone their language, their idioms, and their accent. "Mine's a Scotch," I actually heard a musical-comedy hero say a few weeks back. Shades of George Grossmith, whose privilege it used to be, as Max Beer-bohm said, to make the ridiculous sublime. But not in that language.

See you? Oh yeah! I don't profess to have this patois of the half-world at the tip of my tongue. Indeed, one's only pleasure in visiting the world of the modern musical comedy is to feel that one is getting an authentic glimpse of a world where no white man has ever penetrated. We might even say "no man."

The Modern Hero.

These yearning young suburbans, with their portly sophisticated young women speaking the language of Hollywood with occasional assistance in pronunciation from the pseudo-Oxford accents of the B.B.C. announcers, give me the impression of being moral by compulsion. A few broad jokes would clean the atmosphere.

The great race of music-hall comedians is extinct save for a few veterans. It has been driven off the boards by anemic double-jointed young men lapsing their double contents in accents capable of only one explanation.

The simple vices are as unfashionable as the strong drinks; the modern hero professes bath salts to beef steaks. The most damning indictment of the whole thing, of the reality and the imitation alike, is that it took Mr. Noel Coward only two minutes of dumb show in the Night Club scene in "Cavalcade" to get it all down—and out.

The pre-war convention had its drawbacks. I shudder to think how many votes the late George Edwards won for the late Lord Oxford in his House of Lords campaign by his invariable habit of giving an hereditary title to the dudu in every musical comedy he staged. But at least the dudu was a gentleman and behaved as such. It took the arm of coincidence stretched to its utmost to get him into even the most faintly compromising situation.

"Something Different."

As for what the modern librettist would call his "girl friend," her radiant innocence would have made Dickens's heroines fast by comparison. She too, of course, was a peer's daughter, when the truth was known, or at least she was an heiress, and it was a convention of those simple days that heiresses were unfavourably aristocratic. And as with famous men—according to their official biographies—the other girls—circus girls, Quaker girls, country girls and what not—all along noticed "something different" about her. How idiotic it all was.

But was it? William of Wykeham, when he founded Winchester and New College, Oxford, some centuries ago, chose as their motto the celebrated "Manners maketh man." Was he wrong? Perhaps he was, but it is at least certain that for nearly five hundred years society has proceeded on the assumption that he was right.

To-day for the first time the tide is turning against him. We have gone off the Gold Standard, and the Cabinet standard, and the two-Power standard without any very disastrous results, and so there is a certain superficial logic in our slide from the manners standard. But is it really wise to cut ourselves off so quickly and so completely from the habits of other and, certainly more prosperous days?

There is a case against romanticism, of course. We need our Shaws, our Maughams, and our Lonsdales to take the gift of the gingerbread occasionally. Nature has two sides and the mirror must reflect them both. But there is no justification that I can see for idealising the second rate, for romanticising the vulgar, and for gliding the suburban hollyhock and housing it as an orchid.

Bright Young Things.

"Manners maketh man." But bad manners do not even make bad men: they only make gigolos. Let us get back soon, and for good to our silly romantic world where every girl speaks with the tongue of an angel and every man is brave and strong and chivalrous. Manners may be artificial, but so are the virtues. Hearts of gold may and do beat under rough exteriors, but a man who deliberately refuses to learn or sets aside manners has a heart of brass.

Great men in every generation have spoken to their contemporaries in the accents of the common people, but never in the argot of the contemporary bright young things.

We are not here to express ourselves, but to help other people. Manners are the grammar of virtue. Conventional "good manners" may only be an imitation of this reality, but when good manners became a habit the Yahoo became a citizen. An age of bad manners is an age of bad citizens; an age which treats unpleasant vices as jokes is an age without a sense of humour, and an age without a sense of humour is an age which will never learn to criticise itself.

Better than Hamlet.

When we regain our sense of humour we shall realise that the language of Shakespeare is superior to the language of Hamlet; that the accents of Gladstone are superior to the accents of a love-sick saxophonist; and that the refinement of our parents was more sophisticated and more expressive than the "frankness" of Bloom-bury. In which connexion, as they say in the House of Commons, students of sociology may note that the fall in the birth rate from 25 to 12 per thousand in seven years is the most catastrophic fall ever recorded in the whole history of the

ARRESTED FRENCH
STEAMERCLAIMS FOR GOODS AND WAGES

NO COAL ON BOARD

Sitting in Admiralty Jurisdiction this morning, at the Supreme Court, the Chief Justice, Sir Joseph Kemp, heard a case in which claims for $1,884.74 for necessities supplied by the A. Yuen and Chee Cheong Co., of 74 and 75, Connaught-road Central, were made against the Gr. Gal. Maurice Long II, a French vessel at present in the custody of the Court; and claims for wages amounting to approximately $6,000 by Paul Luigi, Adrien Foret and Jean Le Guyot, officers on the vessel.

Mr. H. C. Macnamara appeared for the plaintiffs in both cases.

OFFICERS' CLAIMS.

The details of the claims by the officers were as follows:

Paul Luigi, captain, $3,603.42, which included wages for June, July and August, at the rate of $500 a month; wages to fall due under contract of service to October 17th, 1932 at the rate of $500 a month; commission on cargo and passengers due under contract of service; expenses paid by the captain from June to September, the balance of the amount advanced by the captain namely, 1,000 piastres, or $1,750 less $1,100 paid on account. Expenses of return to Haiphong and subsistence and maintenance until arrival at Haiphong.

Jean Le Guyot, first officer $1,884.74.

Adrien Foret, chief engineer $1,000.

Opening the case for the plaintiffs, Mr. Macnamara said his clients were a firm of ships' chandlery and were claiming for necessities against the steamship Gov. Gen. Maurice Long II, a French vessel of about 11,000 tons. The owners resided at Haiphong. The ship was at present under the arrest of the Court as a number of writs had been issued, against it. These were duly served and warrants had been executed.

SUPPLY OF GOODS.

"My clients' case is that in the months of February to April last, a quantity of stores were supplied to the boat on the order of her captain, in some cases counter-signed by the second officer, sometimes by the engineer and sometimes by the first officer. The necessities supplied were deck stores, engine room stores and steward room stores. All the articles which are supplied are necessities."

Young Shu-Po, assistant manager of the plaintiff firm, said he received orders from the captain of the ship for goods to the value of $1,602.23 (deck stores). The order came to him signed either by the captain or the chief engineer of the ship. The goods were delivered by steam launch. In a similar way engine room stores to the value of $756.10, and steward room stores to the value of $26.31 were supplied. The balance now owing was $1,884.74. Application for payment had been made several times, but the money had not been paid.

COAL NEEDED.

Mr. Macnamara asked for an order for the sale of the vessel, stating that claims to a total of $30,000 were made against the boat. He also stated that the bailiff had made application for twenty tons of coal to be supplied by the plaintiffs. The ship was, he understood, practically empty of coal and it was possible that a typhoon might come on at any time. Ships in the harbour had to raise steam when a typhoon came and under the circumstances it did not seem excessive to have two days' supply of coal on board. "If we supply the coal now," he added, "it is to preserve the ship for the benefit of all people who have claims against the boat, and your Lordship, if you think fit, can order that a particular person can supply the necessities of this kind in order to preserve the ship while in custody. What we ask is that you authorise the supply of twenty tons of coal and allow that to the bailiff's account, as part of his expenses."

Paul Luigi, captain of the vessel, stated that there was little, if any, coal on board and it would be better if twenty tons were shipped, together with some oil for the cylinders.

This Lordship authorised the bailiff to supply to the plaintiffs twenty tons of coal to be paid for as part of the bailiff's expenses.

CONSUL NOT SERVED.

Answering his Lordship, Mr. Macnamara said notice was not given to the Consul General for the vessel.

BOYCOTTEMBARGO ON THE HERRINGS.

Manila, Sept. 19. According to Mr. W. J. Riddiford, Assistant Trade Commissioner for Canada in Hongkong, who has just arrived here, the Chinese boycott of Japan is so intensive and extensive in character that it has affected a branch of the fishery trade in Canada.

Mr. Riddiford explains that before the boycott, Canada exported 50,000 tons of packed herring a month to China at one cent gold per pound. The Chinese, however, found out that 40 or 50 per cent of the herring packing factories were owned by Japanese and a boycott was declared against this product, whether or not it was made by a Japanese or a Canadian concern.

In order to remedy this situation, the Canadian factory owners and government bought out the larger Japanese herring packing factories and those who refused to sell out have been restricted to selling their products only in Manchuria and Japan proper.

THREE WOMEN
POISONEDALL ADMITTED TO
HOSPITAL

Tai Kiu (21), Chu Ma (21) and Cheung Sha-mui, all married women sharing an unnumbered house in Sha Lo Ha Village, Kowloon City district, were admitted to the Kowloon Hospital yesterday in a condition indicative of their having been poisoned.

A sample of the tea which they had been drinking, and which is believed to have contained the poisonous element, has been forwarded to the Government Laboratory for analysis.

Consul himself. The officers were stranded here and the first thing they did was to go to the French Consul.

Mr. Macnamara:—The only thing which remains to be said in regard to the second case is that a writ was issued on September 1st and on the 19th of that month your Lordship gave leave to proceed ex-parte. The only difference is a claim for wages. In the case of the captain there is a loan he made to the owners of the ship in order to pay the crew, and that, I submit, is a claim which can be maintained against the ship along with his wages.

Capt. Luigi stated that he was engaged on April 9th, 1932. A letter was written given the clauses of his contract together with the terms of the chief engineer and chief officer.

WHAT CAPTAIN WANTS.

The contract stated that he should receive $500 as salary, food included; five dollars for each voyage for extra expenses; ten cents for each deck passenger; twenty cents for each cabin passenger; ten cents for each ox or bullock carried; five cents for each head of pig or goats; and five cents for each basket of chicken. He claimed wages for June, July and August at $500 a month, making a total of $1,500, and wages under contract of service which would not expire until October 17th, next. He had never received notice of termination of contract. He loaned the company $1,750 and with that sum they paid the crew. The money was to be refunded to him as soon as the ship reached Hongkong. Of that amount he had only received $1,100 and that was given to him in three payments.

Jean Le Guyot, first officer, corroborated the terms of the contract, and stated that his wages under the contract were $325 a month. He claimed the balance of wages for June, July and August amounting to $775. He had applied to the agents for that amount but had been unable to get payment. He further claimed for services which under the contract expired on October 17th, next, and the cost of repatriation to Haiphong.

Adrien Foret, chief engineer, stated he had no written agreement with the company, but his pay during the time he served was $500 a month. He had not been paid for July and August and his claim therefore, was $1,000.

His Lordship:—You were more fortunate than the others. You were paid for June.

Mr. Macnamara:—Perhaps he is regarded as a more important person.

Following the evidence, the case was adjourned until this afternoon when His Lordship will give his ruling on the right of claim for damages for breach of contract; whether the captain is entitled to charge commission under his agreement in the action; and as to whether the expenses for the return of each officer to Haiphong should be allowed and their maintenance memoranda.

ANTI-JAPANESE
RECALLED

The eight Chinese, charged with causing malicious damage and disorderly conduct in connexion with an outbreak of anti-Japanese feeling in Mongkok on September 7, were again brought before Mr. Fraser at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning.

It will be recalled that a quantity of enamel ware was taken out and damaged from shops in Shanghai Street and Reclamation Street on September 7, which, it was pointed out, was the anniversary of the date on which trouble started in Hongkong last year. The trouble, it appeared, commenced at some fish stalls near the Mongkok Market, and extended to shops nearby.

Mr. T. Murphy, Assistant Director of the C.I.D., was for the prosecution. Mr. C. Y. Kwan appeared on behalf of the eighth defendant, who was discharged as the prosecution had no evidence against him.

Mr. Murphy, in outlining the case, said on the afternoon of September 7, some four or five boys went to the fish-stalls at Mongkok and made trouble there. His view of the affair was that it was instigated by someone behind the scenes. These boys upset the stalls, on the ground that the fish being sold were Japanese fish—at any rate, they were caught by Japanese trawlers!

After upsetting the stalls, the boys extended their activities to shops nearby. In No. 675 Shanghai Street, a haberdashery shop, some enamel ware was exposed for sale, and this was alleged to be Japanese goods. Some of the rowdies went inside and accused the proprietor and the folks of selling Japanese goods.

Apparently little attention was paid to them, but they seized a quantity of the ware, took it out into the street, and stepped on it. It would appear that even at this stage, there was not much of a crowd. More and more people were attracted by the affair, however, and more boys entered into the spirit of the trouble. No. 601 Shanghai Street was next visited, and Reclamation Street was also invaded by the miscreants. The police were called out and soon had things back to normal.

Enquiries made by the police after the trouble led to the arrest of the defendants, who were taken into custody at various times between 9 a.m. on September 8 and 4 a.m. on September 9.

The hearing was adjourned.

SYMPHONY CONCERT.

JAPANESE PRODIGY TO

From Japan has arrived a great concert player. He is Sadao Iwai, a remarkable xylophonist of 13 years of age, a young Japanese genius. In Shanghai during his concerts he brought his audiences to the pitch of enthusiasm. He interpreted, during his concerts, these eight numbers, all classical compositions including Liszt.

He belongs to a musical family, his mother being an accomplished pianist and his father an excellent violinist. It is claimed that he enchants his audiences with his clear, gay and strong execution and his continuous serenity. The more he plays the more he inspires veneration. He commenced playing at the early age of seven making a great impression on all who heard him. He learnt all by himself and was soon known as the "Virtuoso of the Xylophone."

He gave memorable concerts at the Imperial Palace in Tokyo before the Emperor of Japan, and all the members of the Royal family; also at the International Club in Nanking, at the Rotary Club in Shanghai, with the Russian Orchestra in Harbin, and with the Municipal Band of Shanghai.

His preferable composers are Mendelssohn, Chopin, Winiwied, Rubenstein, Goldard, Liszt, etc. The family is now touring China and the Philippines, following which they will go to Europe and then to the United States of America.

This young prodigy will be heard at the Peninsula Hotel on Sunday evening next, in conjunction with the orchestra at the symphonic concert.

GERMAN PRESS SUPPORT OF GOVERNMENT

Berlin, Sept. 20. "Back to Versailles" is the key-phrase in the comments of the German press on the British disarmament conference.

They are all the papers support the Government's attitude not to participate in the further work of the Disarmament Conference.

CUBS TAKE NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANTCuyler Bats in Three Runs

New York, Sept. 20.

Chicago Cubs to-day won the National League pennant by defeating their only challengers, the Pittsburgh Pirates, by five runs to two in the first game of a double-header. They were blanked out, allowed only three scattered hits, in the second game, but the Pirates had left their effort too late.

Cuyler's triple in the seventh inning clinched the all-important game for the Cubs, causing tremendous excitement among the 40,000 spectators. Up to the sixth inning, the sides kept on terms, but Cuyler's triple came when the bases were loaded and the game was placed on ice.

Moine pitched a perfect game for the Pirates in the nightcap, but interest had then begun to wane.

The Cubs will, therefore, play the New York Yankees for the world championship. The first two games of the series will be played in New York on September 28 and 29 and the next three at Chicago on October 1, 2 and 3. The first bleacherite has already appeared at the Yankee Stadium to engage in an eight-days' siege for a ticket.

In other games, New York Giants beat Boston Braves by 13 runs to 3. Terry hit a home run. Ott hit two home runs and batted in six runs. Urbanski and Schulte hit for the circuit for Boston, as did Stripp and White for the Dodgers, Pucinello for the Cards, and Porter for Cleveland.

ANOTHER VICTIM
FOR HARBOUR.GOVERNMENT DIVER'S
SUDDEN DEATH

The Harbour claimed another victim late yesterday afternoon when a Government diver named W. E. Stevens met his death under mysterious circumstances.

Stevens was working on the Harbour pipe line and when hauled to the surface was found to be in a critical condition.

The ambulance was called and he was rushed to the Government Civil Hospital, but he died before he was admitted.

A post mortem was held but the results were not disclosed.

Certain portions of the anatomy have been forwarded to the Government Analyst for examination.

It is understood that Stevens, who had considerable experience of diving in Australia, was certified as medically fit only a few weeks ago.

Little is known of the unfortunate man. Neither police nor hospital authorities were able to supply any details concerning him except that he arrived in the Colony from Amoy a short time ago.

The funeral will pass the Monument at 5 p.m. to-day.

Angriff, all the papers support the Government's attitude not to participate in the further work of the Disarmament Conference.

EMPRESS LINER IN TYPHOON

THE "CANADA" COMES THROUGH WELL

"She is the steadiest ship on the ocean," said Captain Halley, Commander of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, in describing his experiences when the vessel encountered the recent typhoon en route to Manila.

"We encountered a gale force of up to 50 miles per hour as soon as we passed Wigan," he continued, "and the wind blew at that force all through Friday night. The centre of the typhoon passed slightly ahead, to the westward and we experienced exceptionally heavy swells from the east and south-east until eventually the ship had to slow up."

"Although the wind and sea was on our quarter when we left Hongkong, gradually worked ahead, and during Friday night we continuously shipped heavy seas. With the exception of some slight pitching, which occurs with any ship of the size of the Empress of Canada, the liner behaved marvellously well."

"Very heavy rain squalls occurred all day Saturday, but occurred a while we were able to put on more speed and arrived at Manila on schedule. The lowest barometer reading during the trip across was 29.20, which represented a fairly substantial fall. The wind reached force nine on several occasions on Friday."

The usually spotless Empress liner testified to the ordeal she had been through when she berthed at Kowloon this morning. Red rust from the sea and rain, showed where once white paint had been, and an army of painters were on the job early this morning, removing the rust.

MALAYAN CHAMPIONSHIP WON

and British Record Broken

with help of PHOSFERINE

CHAMPION OOI LEONG TEIK writes:—

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I write to testify to the benefits I have received by taking Phosferine during my training for the 1931 Malayan Weight-Lifting Championships.

As I had to reduce some seven or eight pounds off my normal body-weight in order to enable me to compete in the 9-stone class, I had to go into very strenuous training, and with the help of Phosferine, I not only won the championship of that class, but also the Individual Championship, and, in addition I broke a British Record.

I therefore have no hesitation in recommending Phosferine to any physical culturist or athlete, whether he be in ordinary training or preparing for a competition, as it GIVES ENERGY & ENDURANCE & RENEWS BROKEN-DOWN TISSUE."

NEW AUBURN STRAIGHT EIGHTS DUAL RATIO

Dual Ratio, exclusive with Auburn and special equipment in all Custom Models gives you the equivalent of two cars in one; in the hills a most efficient hill climber; on the straight-away a smoother, quieter performance at high speeds with less wear and tear on the motor and running parts. On the boulevard or in the country with your car moving 20 to 60 M.P.H., turn the Dual Ratio lever on the instrument panel from Low Ratio to High Ratio and while your car continues at the same speed the motor speed drops down one-third of its former speed. Less vibration, quieter, and more economical.

1932 TENNIS LEAGUE

FINAL POSITIONS AND ANALYSIS

I.R.C. LOSE 2 TITLES

NEARLY 99% OF THE MATCHES PLAYED

(By "VERITAS").

With the tennis league season of 1932 officially closed, I am able to give for the first time the completed tables in all divisions.

It will be seen that once again a certain number of fixtures have remained unplayed, though the total is only four throughout the four sections.

The "A" Division again failed to show up in its true colours, the teams displaying lack of interest. South China finished up with two matches outstanding, leaving the "A" with 80 per cent. of the games played.

Only one match was left unplayed in the "B" Division and one in the "C" whilst in the Mixed Doubles the entire programme was carried out.

Altogether the clubs have caused for satisfaction in the manner the fixtures were carried through, the percentage for the whole league being 98.8, which compares favourably with previous seasons.

Two championships changed hands, the Chinese Recreation Club capturing the "A" title from the Indian Recreation Club and at the same time bringing off the coveted triple by retaining the "B" and "C" honours, whilst the United Services Recreation Club achieved a fine performance in achieving the I.R.C. from the head of the Mixed Doubles League.

HONGKONG BOWLERS MAINTAIN FORM

EASILY OVERCOME NORTHERN ZONE

Shanghai, Sept. 20. Further victory came the way of the Hongkong bowlers team now visiting Shanghai, when they were pitted against a team representing the northern zone this afternoon.

The visitors won easily, the game ending 23-13 in their favour.

MORE HONOURS FOR U. M. OMAR

CRAIGENGOWER TITLE

After the interport matches in Shanghai, the Aiktonhead Shield competition between Hongkong and Kowloon will officially bring the lawn bowls season to an end but several of the local clubs have yet to conclude their own tournaments.

One of the first club competitions to have been brought to successful conclusion has been the Craigengower C.C. championship which produced many surprise results before U. M. Omar repeated his victories of 1929, 1928 and 1931. The chief up-sets were the elimination of E. W. Bradbury and E. el Arcull, former winners in the third round.

The full results were as follows:—First round:—E. el Arcull beat W. V. Field, R. Basa beat A. Webster.

Second Round:—B. W. Bradbury beat W. H. B. Muskhett, A. E. Coates beat W. Collins, G. L. Buchanan beat H. V. Pearse, E. el Arcull beat L. E. Lammert, R. Basa beat A. A. Razack, D. Rumjahn beat W. Ward, C. S. Rosset beat W. T. Brightman, U. M. Omar beat Y. Abbas.

Third Round:—Coates beat Bradbury, Buchanan beat Arcull, Basa beat Rumjahn, Omar beat Rosset, Semi-final:—Buchanan beat Coates, Omar beat R. Basa.

Final:—Omar beat Buchanan.

Previous Winners.

Previous winners of the Craigengower Championship have been as follows:

INVITATION ACCEPTED

TEAM GOES UP IN NOVEMBER

LAI WAH CUP

HONGKONG has accepted the invitation to send a football team to Shanghai to engage in an Interport contest. The team will leave on November 22.

This decision was reached at a meeting of the Council of the Hongkong Football Association last night, which means that in view of Shanghai's intention that it will be sending down a soccer eleven in February, that two Interport contests will be held during the forthcoming season.

The visit of Hongkong to the northern port in November is merely the re-arrangement of last year's fixture which had to be abandoned owing to the disturbances in Shanghai.

Last night the committee to select the local side was constituted, the following being appointed: Mr. H. M. McTavish, Mr. Y. K. Mok, Capt. C. E. Elliot-Heywood, Mr. J. S. Logan and Mr. A. Goldenberg.

LAI WAH CUP.

Subsequently the draw for the Lai Wah Cup competition was made as follows:—

CHINESE V NAVY—Caroline Hill

CIVILIANS V ARMY—Sookunpoo

The final will be played on the Hongkong Football Club ground.

GAR WOOD LOWERS THE WATER SPEED RECORD

Easily Beats Kaye Don Mark With 124.9 m.p.h. Run

New York, Sept. 20. New world figures were established by the American speed merchant Gar Wood when he piloted Miss America X at Algonac, Michigan, today.

Over a measured mile he recorded an average of 124.9 miles an hour, in two runs. This beats the previous record of 119.81 m.p.h. registered by Kaye Don in Miss England III.

He who runs may read. He who prefers to yearn in sympathy with the latest night-club singer may go on priding himself on his emancipation until 1930, but by that time, unless there is a change in manners and morals, this country will have a population of much less than forty millions and will be a third-class Power.

THESE TYPHOONS

By Edward Kelly, Weather Clerk.

All this talk about typhoons leaves us cold—stone cold. In a cold sweat, as a matter of fact.

We were told on Friday that we were going to get a typhoon. When we said, "No, thank you, we don't want one," people stared.

We waited all Friday night and Saturday. We have lost our faith in typhoons since then.

We know all there is to know about typhoons, for we are married. We went along to the Royal Observatory at Kowloon one day to see if Mr. Jeffries could tell us how to forecast an approaching storm. All he could do was to try and interest us in barometers, selfometers, anemometers and all the other dometers weather prophets use. So we left.

Anyway, we wouldn't be a meteorologist now if they begged us to. Weather men are always disliked by the public, and they lead Ishmaelish lives. When they make out their weather forecasts, which are broadcast by ZBW, and read in all the papers, they say the weather to-morrow is going to be fine. Then an isobar rises, or the aneroid gets adenoids, and the weather man gets wet going home. Young couples curse him freely, and the only people who are pleased are the ricksha coolies. It's a hard life.

Weather Report:—The depression has deepened in the south-west pocket, and dry weather may be expected until the end of the month. The cyclone, which has been stationary at the Flat, is expected to increase in intensity when the wife discovers that the month's pay has disappeared. A cool change is imminent, accompanied by thunderstorms, gradually merging into wintry conditions when the throff calls. Position at 9 a.m. was approximately Latitude None, Longitude—Six, Months at Victoria Gaol.

London Life in Society Film.

Technical experts have many tasks in modern talking pictures. In "The Flesh is Weak," Robert Montgomery's new starring picture now showing at the Queen's Theatre, these tasks ranged all the way from finding an expert on European gambling games to English cooking and full-course dinners. The new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture is a film version of Ivor Novello's famous stage play, "The Truth Game," a sensation in London and New York. In one scene, London Society is shown in a fashionable casino, and "Russian Bank" is played. One of the elaborate sequences is a great formal dinner given by Frederick Kerr in the role of a British duke. Technical experts reproduced such a dinner from one actually given in London. Interior of famous British castle, the Ascot races, and other highly specialized "local colour" are in the new production, which Jack Conway directed.

Montgomery, as the debonair Max, playboy and fortune hunter, is surrounded by a specially interesting cast in the new picture. Nils Asther, famous Swedish screen hero, who returned temporarily from the screen to master English when the talking pictures came in, returns in the role of Prince Paul, Nora Gregor, former Max Reinhardt stage star in Vienna, and Heather Thatcher, famous London stage star. C. Aubrey Smith, Edward Everett Horton, Frederick Kerr and others are among the players. Comedy enmeshed with a love story running through it, and an interesting glimpse of the "inside" of London life mark the new picture.

A fool usually brags that he's a self-made man.

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

"Tarzan, the Apo Man," Edgar Rice Burroughs' widely-read African adventure novel, has been brought to the screen under the direction of W. S. Van Dyke of "Trader Horn" fame, and will be screened at the Queen's Theatre from tomorrow. Because the hero of this story is a white man who lives like the apes in the tree-tops, making his way by swinging through them from limb to limb, difficulty was encountered in finding someone of sufficient athletic prowess to fill the exacting role. The problem was solved when Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer and one of the finest examples of manly physique, was cast as Tarzan. Neil Hamilton and C. Aubrey Smith, as leaders of an English safari seeking ivory wealth, Maureen O'Sullivan as Smith's daughter, Doris Lloyd, Forester Harvey and Ivory Williams fill the remaining principal roles.

Jungle thrills outdoing even those of the sensational "Trader Horn" are promised in the daring trek of the safari through the wilds of Africa in search of the elusive "Elephant's Burial Ground" in the course of which the adventurers meet with terrifying obstacles. The wit of the white man are matched against those of beasts and savage pygmies with the primitive winning out in the end, while screen romance of a new order is entailed in the curious love affair of the Apo Man and English girl.

Settings of tremendous magnitude were required in giving the picture the authentic backgrounds of the original locales laid in the African region around Lake Albert and the Mountains of the Moon where herds of giant apes are found. Hundreds of live jungle beasts were used in the production for the filming of some of the most unusual animal scenes ever photographed.

"The Strange Case of Clara Deane." Three hundred and forty-six children are regularly employed by Hollywood film studios. Motion pictures would be seriously handicapped without their services. They have contributed outstanding entertainment to the screen in such pictures as "Skinny," "Soaky," and "Huckleberry Finn" and they are important factors in hundreds of films which in many cases could not be made without them.

Those fact were disclosed recently by Louis Casner, picture film director who, with Max Marcin, codirected Paramount's "The Strange Case of Clara Deane" which will be shown to-morrow at the King's Theatre. Casner points out this production as one which could not be made without the services of trained child artists. Thirty-three girls, ranging in age from two to eleven years, appear in the picture. Two of them have important parts and one, Cora Sue Collins, four-year-old starlet, is featured prominently in many scenes with Wynne Gibson, Pat O'Brien and Digges.

"Caught" at the Oriental.

Whoever says that the vague, if it can be called that, for Western pictures on the screen is passed will have to alter his opinion: when he sees "Caught," Paramount's splendid talkie based on the life and adventures of Calamity Jane, at the Oriental Theatre. "Caught" has caught the intense interest of every beholder with its fascinating characterizations and its stirring plot. Richard Arlen, who is starred in the picture, is seen as a lieutenant of a cavalry detachment sent out to police the mining and cattle towns of the 80's where boom conditions have brought their attendant disorder and outlaws. Louise Dresser, that grand actress, is seen as Calamity, the story-smoking cowboy of bad men, the proprietress of the combination dance-and-gambling-hall, and the leader of the vicious band of cattle rustlers who terrorize the community. Edward Sloman, the director, has made a thrill-packed document in celluloid from this great, red-blooded story.

FATAL LANDSLIDE AT WEST POINT.

P.W.D. OFFICIAL DEPOSES TO INSPECTOR

The recent fatal fall of earth at West Point was further investigated at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when the Inspector on Taeng Tack-hoi, a 15-year-old schoolboy, who was killed, was continued.

Tseng Sin, the mother of the lad, and mistress of a brothel at No. 12, Yat Fu Lane, said that on the Sunday afternoon in question she was out worshipping at a near-by hillside shrine, leaving her young son at their home at No. 13, Yat Fu Lane, at his books, and her husband on a sick bed.

On her return, the inmates informed her that there had been a collapse and that her son was missing. She saw her husband being taken away to Hospital in an ambulance.

Lam Pui, who described himself as a goldsmith, living at No. 13, said he saw the boy run out on the first signs of danger to warn his mother in the brothel next door. The boy had disappeared within the doorway when the earth came down and blocked up that end of the lane. He himself retreated within the kitchen, together with other inmates, and escaped through a window.

Paid Scant Attention.

Pat Sam, an amah employed in the brothel at No. 12, claimed to have seen the last of the lad as he came into the kitchen and said that the hillside was coming down. She paid scant notice, telling him to "go out first as I have to boil tea," and the next instant came into immediate contact with danger as earth fell and blocked up the doorway of the kitchen.

"I escaped through the window of the kitchen," witness said, "and sought for the boy immediately after I had got outside, but could not find him."

Mr. L. E. Longbottom, of the Public Works Department, produced plans of the site. He said that No. 12 was built in two portions, a rectangular and a triangular portion. Information was received that the body of the lad was in the triangular portion, and by mid-day of the following day, sufficient shoring was put up to enable the earth to be removed.

The body was recovered in the triangular portion, to which access was obtained from within the rectangular part.

A Previous Fall.

Referring to Departmental records, witness found that the last inspection of the hillside was made only two days prior to the mishap, this being as the result of a fall of earth which occurred in July at the back of No. 574, Queen's Road West. On that previous occasion, the Assistant Director of Public Works got into communication with the Headquarters of the China Military Command, within whose property was located the starting point of the slide.

At that inspection, witness was accompanied by Colonel Marsden, R. E. The inspection started from No. 574 and was carried out along the whole top of the hillside, the result being that they had no apprehension of any further fall then. The spot overlooking Yat Fu Lane was also included, and considered not to be in any immediate danger. The hillside above Yat Fu Lane was a natural slope of earth and stones, and it was in the records that three years before, in 1929, some small boulders had been removed, the work showing that after this was done the hillside was in a fairly satisfactory condition.

History Repeated.

Going further back, to 1927, it was also in the records that in that year a boulder became dislodged and crashed into the rear of No. 17 Yat Fu Lane. That probably was an isolated boulder and no further action was taken.

The houses in Yat Fu Lane were 40 years old. They would probably last for another ten years, but were in a very old condition, and three had been actually rebuilt.

"Under our present laws," said witness, "we should not allow houses to be built within such close proximity to the hillside."

Further questions by Mr. T. M. Hazlerigg, Assistant Crown Solicitor (appearing for the Military authorities), elicited the fact that some of the houses in the lane were built practically flush against the hillside, and in some cases actually formed retaining walls to a height, at one point, of ten feet.

Witness agreed that the conclusion was made absolute that the individual who originally formed the site for those houses, had cut into the toe of the hill.

Nobody to Blame.

After the Coroner had summed up the evidence, the jury (comprising Messrs. E. Docherty, foreman, P. M. Jack and Shuk-chuen), returned a verdict of "Death by Misadventure."

side the zone of the malaria carrying anophelines are not subject to risks of attack.

A number of localities outside the town are reputed to be malarious and these are being investigated.

Tuberculosis.

Pulmonary tuberculosis ranks second to broncho-pneumonia as the principal cause of death. The total number of deaths was 1,983, that for 1930 being 1,994. The death rate per mille was 2.90 as compared with 2.02 for the previous year. Pulmonary tuberculosis in the majority of cases is chronic and debilitating disease which unites the individual for the active exercise of his employment months or even years previous to his death. It is, therefore, most probable that the death figures form an incomplete index of the prevalence of the disease in the Colony as many, who would have died here had they remained, returned to their native villages in China there to end their lives among their friends and relatives.

It is estimated that for every death there are at least ten persons suffering from open tuberculosis. As it is the habit among the lower classes of Chinese to expectorate freely without taking precautions, this means that there were in the Colony during the year under discussion 20,000 living incubators of disease each adding his daily quota of microbes to the stock already existing. When it is realised that tuberculosis is more infectious and more deadly than leprosy the dangers of spread of infection become obvious.

Diphtheria.

The distribution of cases of diphtheria coincided with the distribution of milk supply of a certain dairy. The staff employed were examined and eight carriers of Klebs-Loeffler Bacillus were discovered out of a total of 146.

Examination of the employees in other dairies in the Colony did not reveal the presence of any carriers. The authorities of the dairy concerned took prompt action to pasteurise at 165°F. all milk distributed by them and the epidemic quickly subsided.

Births and Deaths.

Births registered as having taken place in the Colony during the year were: Chinese—12,005 and non-Chinese 388, a total of 12,443.

Deaths registered among the civilian population were 18,797 giving a death rate of 24.08 per mille as compared with 21.37 per mille the previous year. Deaths among Chinese totalled 13,696 and among non-Chinese 231.

The number of deaths of infants under one year were Chinese 7,411; Non-Chinese 24. If the figures for the Chinese births registered represented the total births, which they do not, the infantile mortality rate for this year would be 67.42 as compared with 55.75 in the previous year. The mortality rate among the non-Chinese was 61.85 as compared with 74.0 for 1930.

Dumping of the Dead.

In spite of the fact that there was no epidemic during all but the last few days of the year the practice of dumping bodies continued. The number reported by the Police was 1,236 for the year 1932 as compared with 557.5 in the previous year.

The Europeans and Americans resident in the Colony were 7,000 of which 5,625 were British. The majority of Europeans and Americans are treated by private practitioners when ill and figures are not available for calculating incidence rates.

There were 84 deaths among the 7,000 giving a death rate of 12 per mille.

going to mean money—lots of money—fame, success! It's going to mean everything in the world I want. I guess that surprises you, doesn't it? Run away to New York with you—why, you insignificant little worm, I ought to have you thrown out of this room!"

Dun Phillips bowed low. "Your parting words," he said smoothly, "I'll remember them."

In the serving pantry the maid stood close to the door, listening with a swiftly beating heart. Yvonne's blue eyes were wide circles. Such quarrelling! She had never heard anything like this at Miss Vail's before. And Mr. Phillips! The last time she had seen those two together—

Yvonne suddenly became erect. The bell in the entrance was ringing. It was her duty to answer that bell. Yvonne touched the orange ruffles of her cap, glanced into the small mirror and saw that her appearance was correct.

This must be the guest Miss Vail had made such preparations for. He was certainly coming at an ill-chosen time.

MUKDEN CAPTIVES

ALL RELEASE EFFORTS BEING MADE

London, Sept. 20.

Reuters have been informed here that all possible endeavours are being made by the British authorities in China to secure the release of Mrs. Muriel Pawley and Mr. Charles Corkran, the Mukden residents who were captured by bandits while riding on the Mukden racecourse two weeks ago.

The British Consul at Newchwang is working under the superintendence of the Consul-General at Mukden. All the British officials concerned are working in the closest possible touch with all the authorities concerned to obtain their release.

The peril of Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Corkran is emphasised by the bandits' ultimatum which is told in flaming headlines and has aroused facing each other. Yvonne said hesitantly, "The bell, Miss Vail—you want me to answer it?"

intense concern throughout the country.

"Every possible step has been taken since Mrs. Pawley and Mr. Corkran were captured," is the only statement so far vouchsafed in official British quarters.

Newspapers' Efforts.

The Daily Express has opened a campaign with the object of bringing pressure and publicity upon everybody concerned. The newspaper has telegraphed to Changchun, where the Foreign Minister has replied lengthily, regretting the affair involves subjects of Britain with whom Manchukuo is desirous of promoting friendly relations and giving assurances that rescue efforts are being continued vigorously. The Government is determined to clear the country of bandits completely with the aid of the Japanese military forces as soon as the kailang harvest is complete, thereby ensuring the safety of everybody within the state.

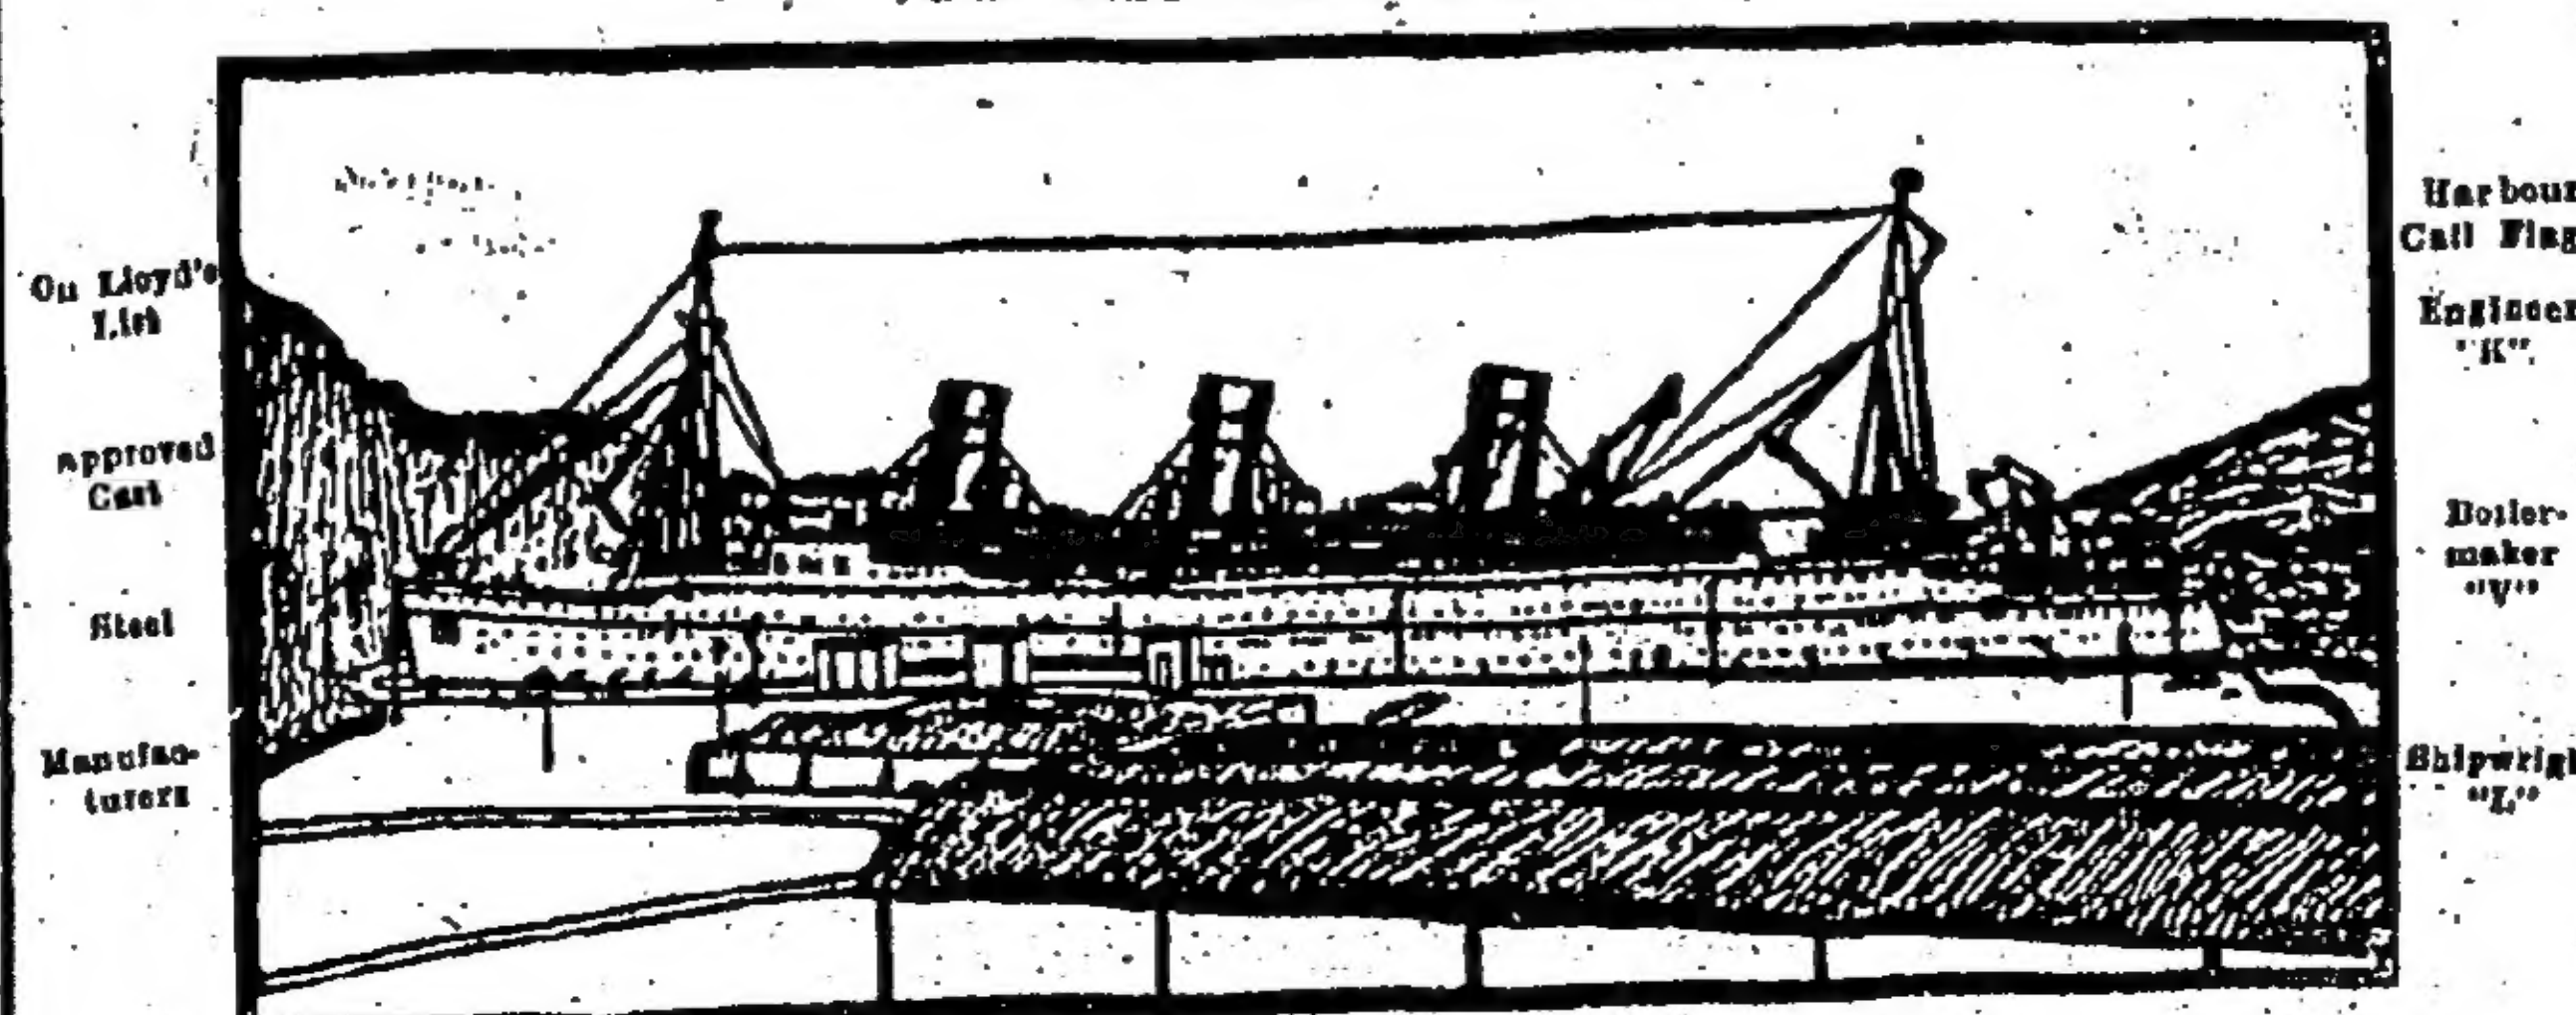

The Daily Mail says the incident shows clearly that Japan's firm hand is required to deal with the chaos in Manchuria. It looks to the Japanese Government to exert promptly its well known energy in the rescue of the Britishers and incidentally warn the brigands that the slightest injury to either prisoner will bring exemplary punishment for the whole of the gang.—Reuter.

BRIDGE COLLAPSES FLOOD DISASTER AT WUKINGFU

RIVER ROARS DOWN LIKE TIDAL BORE

(Our Own Correspondent).

Swatow, Sept. 19.
Calamity has struck the Wu-kingfu and Hopo Districts, which have been devastated by serious floods.

The most serious disaster occurred at Wukingfu where the magnificent new bridge constructed over the river there was destroyed. It was opened only six months ago after the collapse of another bridge which had been constructed some months previously.

Every effort had been made to make the new bridge structurally sound and free from flood perils.
A clearance of fifteen feet above the ordinary water level was provided, but even that was insufficient, the floods reaching an unprecedented height.

EIGHTEEN FEET RISE.

The waters of this extraordinary flood rose three feet higher than the bridge. It successfully withstood the force and rush of the water itself, but its doom came when great beams and tree trunks came hurtling down the stream and could not pass the barrage of the bridge's superstructure.

These huge battering-rams, gathering numbers hourly crashed against the pillars until the bridge collapsed. Three of the five spans were ultimately broken in this way and swept away.

Both in the Hopo and Wukingfu districts the river came down in a huge spate, almost resembling a tidal bore, and assumed a volume greater than ever before in living memory.

HASTY FLIGHTS.

Riverside villages were flooded out so quickly that only the few things that could be snatched up hurriedly were saved from the deluge. Numerous houses collapsed, in some cases through the ignorance

MUI-TSAI CASE IN COURT

FIFTY DOLLAR FINE ON WIDOW

A fine of $50 was imposed by Mr. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning on a widow, Leung Ngan-fan, of 24, Queen's Road West, on her appearance on a charge of keeping an unregistr-ed mul-tai.

Inspector H. W. Fraser informed his Worship that the girl went to the Wanchai Police Station on September 6 last and reported that she had been ill-treated by the defendant's son. She was presented by her natural parent through a go-between to the defendant for $42. The girl had been with the defendant for about nine years and her work consisted of carrying water, attending the kitchen, running errands and doing general household work. She also had her meals separate from the other members of the house.

On September 4, she was sent to make some purchases and on her return she was accused by the defendant's son of being late.
She was then struck with a feather duster. The girl informed the police that she usually rose at 7 o'clock each morning and did not retire until midnight or 1 a.m.

The Kowloon Fire Brigade was called out to a fire at Hungghom at about 11.30 a.m. to-day, a match-standing on the Chatham Road extension having caught. Engines from Tsimshatsui rushed to the scene and no difficulty in extinguishing the flames, though not before much damage was done to the shed, which was used as foks' quarters and storeroom.

The P. and O. s.s. Ranchi, from Shanghai, is due here at 6 a.m. on Friday.

of the occupants as to the proper procedure. They closed their doors and so increased the area subject to flood water pressure instead of opening them, thus letting the waters have free passage.

At Hopo the flood followed one of a few weeks ago. That itself caused considerable damage. Repairs had almost been completed when the second flood came, swept away all new works and, in fact, left the whole district in a greater state of devastation.

AN UNFINISHED STORY

ARNOLD BENNETT'S LAST WORK

TO APPEAR IN THE "TELEGRAPH"

Exclusive serial publication rights in Hongkong and South China for the late Mr. Arnold Bennett's last long fiction story has been secured by the "Hongkong Telegraph."

The story is entitled "Dream of Destiny," and the first instalment will appear on Monday of next week.

Mr. Arnold Bennett was stricken down before the renowned author could complete his last work, but this imparts to the story a mystery element which is rather intriguing.

The story ends with the principal characters in a dilemma and readers have an interesting opportunity of choosing their own solution to the problem with which Mr. Lane Smith is faced or of attempting to discover what solution was intended by the author.
